Cloudburst in Southwest Iowa Takes 5 Lives

Dozen Missing as Nearly 13 Inches Rain Hits Region

Audubon, Iowa—A cloudburst which dumped nearly 13 inches of rain on this southwestern Iowa county early today left five known dead and a dozen persons missing, Sheriff Jack Hilsabeck reported.

Hardest hit communities apparently were Audubon and the towns of Hamlin and Exira a few miles south of Audubon.

An Iowa National Guard company was ordered to active duty to aid in the emergency in the Audubon county area. The American Red Cross set up food and shelter facilities. Several homes were destroyed and more than 100 families were evacuated in the area.

Sheriff Hilsabeck said the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkins were found in their flood-swept home at Exira. Most of that town of 1,100 was flooded by the East Nishnabotna river.

3 Bodies Recovered

Hilsabeck said three bodies were recovered at Hamlin. The brunt of the storm, which included torrential rains and winds of up to 70 miles an hour, was along a line from Harlan in western Iowa eastward through Audubon, Guthrie Center, Perry and Des Moines.

Rain of 5 1/2 inches was measured in Des Moines, causing local flooding and minor evacuations along Four Mile creek. Winds caused $15,000 damage to light planes at the Des Moines airport.

Crop and property loss estimates in the storm ranged up to more than a million dollars. Corn and oats were flattened by the deluge. Livestock was drowned and buildings were washed away.

Among a dozen persons missing, Hilsabeck said, was Russell Smith of Exira whose wife survived a night of terror when she was swept 30 miles down the turbulent Nishnabotna river, clinging to floating debris. She was pulled from the water at Grissold, far downstream. Their son was rescued from a tree at Exira.

Disrupted Preliminary Efforts For Conference, President Says in Letter to Khrushchev

Washington —President Eisenhower accused Russia today of having disrupted diplomatic preparations for a summit conference. He said this "cannot but cast doubt" on Soviet intentions toward a top level meeting.

His accusation was in a letter to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. The communication paralleled similar messages from leaders of Britain and France.

The western officials told Khrushchev: "They consider a summit meeting desirable if it would provide an opportunity for serious east-west discussion of major problems and for reaching important agreements."

Charges by Khrushchev that the western powers are trying to prevent a summit meeting by proposing unacceptable issues, are unwarranted Khrushchev made such charges in letters June 11.

The White House made public Eisenhower's letter here. Earlier dispatches from Moscow had reported that U. S. British and French messages had been delivered to the foreign office by the embassies of the three western powers.

Khrushchev's June 11 letter and an annex attached to it provided the basis for Eisenhower's charge that the Soviet government had broken up

Reckless Risks In Foreign Aid Cut, Ike States

Action by House Group Serious Blow To Security, He Says

Washington —The house ignored a last-minute plea from President Eisenhower today, and tentatively voted a $135 million cut in defense support funds in the foreign aid program.

The test vote was on an amendment to restore $75 million of the $135 million cut from the defense support funds by the house appropriations committee. The amendment, offered by Rep. Gerald Ford (R-Mich.) and backed by most Republicans, lost on a 120-97 vote. There could be a later roll call.

Washington —President Eisenhower today accused the house appropriations committee of taking reckless risks with the nation's security in voting to cut foreign aid funds nearly $600 million.

In a statement at a press conference, Eisenhower said emphatically that the committee "has taken action that seriously endangers our security."

Eisenhower said further: "It is my deep conviction that reductions of a size contemplated by the committee will have grave consequences in portions of the free world, and to our nation's security — and will encourage communist imperialism."

Reads Statement
It was his third appeal in a week for restoration of the committee-voted reduction. He originally asked congress for $3,942,000,000 in mutual security funds for the fiscal year which started yesterday.

At the outset of the news conference, Eisenhower announced he wanted to read a statement on the foreign aid money situation.

He proceeded to read it in forceful, emphatic tones. This was the climax:

"We have this choice: 'Stand up and be counted, live up to our ideals and purposes and assume the responsibilities that are ours; or, shrug our shoulders, say that freedom for others has no significance for us, is therefore no responsibility of ours, and

Denies Anything Wrong In Relationship or That He Got Special Favors

Washington —A lawyer for Bernard Goldfine said today Goldfine charged off as a business expense hotel bills paid for Sherman Adams and the cost of an expensive Oriental rug which Adams has testified was a loan.

Attorney Roger Robb gave this account after a house hearing at which Goldfine read a statement denying there was anything out of line in his relationship with Adams.

In the statement, Goldfine did not go into the business expense question which some house subcommittee members say can be the most important matter of evidence in their inquiry into relations between Goldfine and Adams.

Washington —Bernard Goldfine denied today there was anything out of line in his gift-studded relationship with Sherman Adams. He said his family considers it has received more in gifts from the Adams family than it has given.

The 67-year-old Boston industrialist, long-time friend of Adams, branded as lies charges that Adams swung federal favors to him.

His hospitality and gifts to Adams, President Eisenhower's principal assistant, were not intended and did not result in special favors from government agencies for his business interests, Goldfine said, and asked:

"Why doesn't somebody write about the things Gov. Adams gave to my family over the years?"

Goldfine came before a house investigating committee with a long statement denying any wrong doing and hurling a charge that embraced many congress members that:

"All these expressions of horror about what I asked Mr. Adams to do and what he did are hypocrisy."

But he departed from his statement to elaborate on the point of gifts from the Adams family.

No Comment Now
Even as Goldfine was testifying, reporters sought to learn from President Eisenhower whether he is reconsidering his decision to keep Adams as his No. 1 aide.

Eisenhower refused to say. In response to questions, Eisenhower told his news conference the statement he made two weeks ago in which he said he needs Adams expressed his conviction at that time.

Eisenhower noted the house hearings are still going on. He said he would not have any comment at this time in reply to a reporter's question whether he had reconsidered his decision.

Eisenhower labeled as brand new to him the suggestion that Goldfine, in giving expensive favors to Adams, had charged them off as business expenses on his income tax.

Adams has admitted Goldfine paid hotel bills for him, gave him cloth for a coat and loaned him a rug. Adams has said he contacted government agencies in Goldfine's behalf but has denied he used any

Chicken Game With Rifles Kills Youth

Victorville, Calif. —Authorities say three teenagers played a game of "chicken" with rifles—with these results: Earl Watson, 19, is dead.

His brother, David, 17, is in jail, booked for investigation of manslaughter.

Donald Burns, 18, a friend, is being held as a material witness. Sheriff's officers gave this account:

The three, friends at Bell Gardens, a Los Angeles suburb, went hunting Monday on the Mojave desert south of Victorville. When they couldn't find game they fired at bottles, rocks and cans.

Shoot at Each Other
Then they started shooting near each other—to see if they could make the others flinch.

"We shot anywhere from three to five feet away from another fellow's shoes," said Burns, who said he quit the game and returned to their car.

From behind a bush, Earl fired a shot into the pole behind which David lay. Then David fired a shot. No sound came from Earl, and David yelled: "Did I hit you?"

There was no reply. Then Earl rolled from behind the bush and down a sandy embankment, with a bullet in his side. He was dead when the others got him to a hospital.

Attempt to Force Resignation Fails

Regional Planning Director Asked To Submit Own Master Plan Outline

An attempt to force the resignation of Regional Planning Director Clarence Hammond Tuesday night at a special meeting of the planning commission's executive committee failed when no motion calling for his resignation was forthcoming.

Instead, the committee asked Hammond to prepare an outline of what has been done toward gathering data to complete a regional master plan, said that under new regulations what remains to be done and how he thinks it should be done. The outline will be presented at the regular executive committee meeting Thursday night.

Refer to Letter
The special meeting was called by Commission Chairman Charles Wood, who said Hammond had disagreed with the policy determined by the executive committee to hire an outside planning agency to prepare the regional master plan.

In his opening remarks, Wood said he would accept a motion calling for Hammond's resignation.

Wood referred primarily to a letter to newspapers by Hammond stating that the type of discussion by Neenah Mayor Chester Bell in opposing the master plan proposal was a healthy thing. At a meeting June 19 in Appleton, Bell expressed objections to the plan. This open discussion, Hammond said, was good, and served to set the pattern for London —Britain disclosed today that red China has clamped new restrictions on diplomats in Peiping and has arrested a number of Chinese servants working for foreign diplomatic missions.

The Chinese actions are under study by the British foreign office, a spokesman told reporters.

Informed government sources expressed the view that a widespread political purge is under way.

A foreign office spokesman said that under new regulations the Chinese had cut the distance how he thinks it should be done. The outline will be presented at the regular executive committee meeting Thursday night.

Britain applies a similar 35-mile limit on the movement of red Chinese and other communist diplomats in this country. The spokesman said no request from a Chinese official wishing to go beyond that limit has yet been turned down.

British authorities do not know the reason for the arrest of five Chinese servants who work for the British mission in Peiping.

Approximately 15 Chinese servants working for other foreign missions in Peiping also have been arrested.

Fear U. S. Consuls Seeking Release Of Kidnaped Men Also Prisoners

Washington —The state department disclosed today that two U. S. consuls are in direct touch with rebel forces in Cuba and have sent cryptic messages about their negotiations for release of kidnaped Americans.

As for the captives press officer Lincoln White said there is "no indication of the death of any of these people or of any injury to them."

Havana —Lack of word from two U. S. consuls who went into the hills of eastern Cuba to seek release of kidnaped North Americans aroused speculation today that Fidel Castro's rebels might be holding the diplomats also.

The U. S. embassy in Havana had expected the consuls to return by yesterday with some report on the 47 Americans and 3 Canadians seized by rebels in east Cuba since Thursday. Park Wollam, consul at Santiago, was reported to have made contact with rebels near the town of Moa, where 12 American families were kidnapped, after given refuge on the navy base. going into the hills Sunday morning.

Robert Wiecha, vice consul at Santiago, reportedly entered the back country around Guantanamo bay Sunday afternoon to seek release of 30 servicemen from the U. S. Naval station at Guantanamo.

The rebels also are holding two American managers of a there will be no U. S. intervention. An American and a not pay blackmail for release of the Americans.

Hawaii Must Wait for Statehood Action Until 1959, Lawmakers Say

Washington —Hawaii statehood? Next year, perhaps, but not this year.

That was the appraisal today of members of congress close to the situation in the wake of a statehood for Alaska.

In the senate, where a committee-approved Hawaii statehood bill hangs on the calendar, Democratic whip Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) conditioned further senate action on house passage of the Hawaii bill.

In the house, Rep. Leo O'Brien (D-N.Y.), chairman of the territories subcommittee, said a favorable vote in the house committee on interior and insular affairs is the most that can be hoped for this year.

Considering prior commitments, that vote is expected about July 9, or possibly a week later.

U. S. Must Enter Education Race

Derthick Declares Nation Can't Ignore Russian Challenge

Cleveland —Lawrence C. Derthick, U. S. commissioner of education, told a representative assembly of the National Education association today that the Russians "have challenged us to a race in the classrooms which we have no alternative but to accept."

Derthick said the Russian teachers are committed to "a system that is the very antithesis of the ideals and purposes we dearly cherish. And that system, we must remember, ranks teaching among the top professions in pay and prestige," he added. "Teachers in their society are in a favored position, and the support of parents is expected by the state."

Soviet Challenge

The commissioner said Russia had challenged this country's democracy to a race for supremacy "and in fortifying herself for this contest she has pledged her bets on a strong educational system designed to produce a generation of efficient young communists for the race to power. There is a lively enthusiasm and a faith in education akin to the feeling of our forebears but directed toward goals vastly different."

A century ago, Derthick told the teachers, "we were convinced that the key to our future was in the education of the children of all of the people."

"This was the attitude that helped build the most prosperous nation on earth. However, somewhere along the way as our material achievements overwhelmed us with their magic and their wonder, we seemed to have lost something of our prospective and a measure of our eagerness for learning."

Rubber Workers Get Pay Increase

Cleveland —An 8-cent hourly pay raise for 33,000 rubber workers is the heart of an agreement reached here last night between the union and the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and the B. F. Goodrich Co.

It averted a strike threatened for midnight last night. The agreement came less than an hour before the deadline.

The pay raise, effective with the June 30 pay period, brings the average Goodyear hourly straight-time wage to $2.60. The Goodrich rate now will be $2.59. Employees of both companies work a 6-hour, 6-day week.

The United Rubber Workers, represented by International President L. S. Buckmaster, agreed with the companies to put off further negotiations on pensions and insurance improvements until the full 2-year contract expires next April 15.

Congress Could End Its Work by Aug. 2

Party Leaders Agree on Date if No Major Controversy Comes Up

Washington — Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) said today that Republicans would like to see Congress wind up its work and go home Aug. 2.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, acting senate Democratic leader, said it might be possible to conclude the session at that time unless unexpected controversy crops up over some of the major legislation yet to be acted upon.

Bridges, who heads the senate Republican policy committee, said that with the Alaska statehood bill out of the way, he does not believe there will be extended senate debate on any remaining measure.

The senate has yet to act upon reciprocal trade, defense reorganization, foreign aid appropriations, housing and farm bills, among the major controversial pieces of legislation.

Omnibus Farm Bill

The house has ploughed through some of these but still faces the necessity of acting on a bill to replace the omnibus farm measure it killed recently. The house also may originate legislation which would increase social security benefits 10 per cent, in line with the pay raises given to government employees.

It probably will have to wrestle with the question of increasing the $280 billion debt limit, another measure which would have to originate in the house before the senate could act upon it.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) told the senate Tuesday there is no longer any hope that the house will pass a labor regulation bill similar to that approved by the senate. Many house members agree, although some profess to think action still is possible.

Although Republicans have been plugging for action on a bill to grant statehood to Hawaii there appears little likelihood of any final action on that measure in this congress.

Sen. William F. Knowland of California, the senate Republican leader, said he does not expect President Eisenhower to propose any major new programs. He wouldn't hazard a guess, however, on a congressional quiting date.

Knowland, who is running for governor of California, is one of numerous candidates who would like to get away as early as possible to campaign.

Test Bodies of Woman's Mate, Nurse for Arsenic

Tyler, Texas — Mrs. Mrs. Evie Denney, accused of feeding her husband arsenic, was freed on bond today while state authorities tested the bodies of a former husband and maid.

Mrs. Denney, a red-haired woman still shapely at 64, was charged with administering injurious substances to Charles Denney. Officers said Denney, 38, was being treated at the McKinney, Tex., veterans hospital.

She denied the charge.

Mrs. Denney was jailed Monday night on the charge and freed on $2,500 bond yesterday.

The bodies of Homer Luse, her former husband who died in 1946, and her Negro maid, Roberta Choice, who died five years ago, were exhumed for examination.

Mrs. Denney also denied any connection with their deaths.

Denney, who married her five years ago, sued for divorce June 19.

Deputy Sheriff Harlon Long said the charges against Mrs. Denney came after an extensive investigation

Chicago Couple Drowns as Boat Goes Over Dam

Two Others Also Lose Lives in Wisconsin Waters

By The Associated Press

A Chicago couple drowned Tuesday night when their motorboat was swept over a dam on a rain-swollen river near Phillips in Price county. Water mishaps claimed two other lives in widely separated areas of Wisconsin.

Drowned were:

George Nemitz, 20, of route 2, Watertown.

Gerald R. Summerville, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Summerville of Aurora, Ill.

Were Vacationing

The Manciones and their four children were vacationing at a resort near Phillips in an area where six and one-half inches of rain fell Monday. Officials had ordered the gates on Jobe's dam on the Big Elk river open to relieve the pressure.

Authorities said the parents, apparently unaware of the unusually swift current, took two of the children, Michele, 5, and Michael, 2, for a ride in an outboard motorboat about 6:30 Tuesday evening. The motorboat was hurled over the dam, falling about six feet into the churning waters below. Mr. and Mrs. Mancione drowned, but the children, wearing life jackets, were rescued by sheriff's deputies and volunteer firemen.

Others Stayed Behind

The other children, Anne, 10, and Mary Lou, 12, had stayed behind at the resort, about one mile from the scene of the tragedy.

The Summerville boy fell into a small stream which flows into Little Arbor Vitae lake in Vilas county. He had been fishing on the bank. The boy's 8-year-old brother and his grandmother witnessed the drowning.

Nemitz drowned early today when he waded into a water-filled gravel pit while on an outing with three other young men three miles northeast of Watertown.

Two Thrill Killers May Win Freedom From Life Sentence

New York — Two young men off their sentence for good behavior.

Brooklyn men, sentenced to life in prison three years ago for a senseless thrill killing, could be paroled in 24 years.

Freedom by 1961 became possible Tuesday for Jack Koslow, 22, and Melvin Mittman, 21, when they pleaded guilty of second-degree manslaughter.

A legal technicality had upset their conviction on first-degree murder charges in the slaying of a park bench lounge who was tortured before he was drowned.

Koslow and Mittman pleaded guilty yesterday to the lesser charge rather than face retrial.

Original Arrest

Judge Hyman Barshay sentenced them to 10 to 20 years in prison. The court ruled that all time spent in custody, dating back to their original arrest in 1954, be counted in the sentence. They also can get time off their sentence for good behavior.

Mittman sighed with relief. Koslow turned and smiled at his parents.

The same judge, passing sentence on the pair in January 1954, had declared:

"No judge, no court, no parole board will be empowered to release you from jail. The only possibility of your ever securing your liberty is through a pardon by the governor."

Last May 19 an appeals court ruled Barshay had erred in letting the jury return a verdict involving felony murder, which required evidence that the victim, Willard Menter, had been kidnapped before he was drowned.

Factory Worker

Menter, 34-year-old Negro factory worker, was attacked and burned with matches and cigarettes Aug. 16, 1954, as he and indicated they would face trial again.

Pacifist Sails in Bomb Testing Area, Arrested

Professor Charged With Violating AEC Regulations in Pacific Ocean

Honolulu — A pacifist anthropologist, abandoning his challenge to "sink me to take me," sailed out of the Pacific H-bomb test area today under arrest for violating Atomic Energy commission regulations.

Under the escort of the coast guard cutter Planetree, Earle L. Reynolds, bespectacled, scholarly professor, steered his 50-foot yacht Phoenix toward the mid-Pacific atoll of Kwajalein.

The cutter halted the yacht yesterday 65 miles inside the zone and forced it to leave the forbidden danger area. Coast guardsmen boarded the craft and arrested Reynolds, an outspoken foe of nuclear testing.

An official announcement said Reynolds sailed his craft into the prohibited area despite two warnings since Sunday.

Apparently no action was taken against the other four persons on the Phoenix — Reynolds' wife, Barbara; daughter, Jessica, 14, son, Tex, 19, and Nick Mikami, 35, a crew member from Hiroshima, Japan.

Faces Charges

The announcement from the Pacific military headquarters here said Reynolds, 48, will be flown from Kwajalein to Honolulu to face charges of violating AEC regulations forbidding Americans to enter the Eniwetok testing grounds. The yacht is expected to reach Kwajalein in three days.

Before leaving Honolulu June 11, Reynolds said he regarded any interference on the high seas an act of piracy. He added: "They will have to sink me to take me."

Reynolds formerly was associate professor of anthropology at Antioch college and chairman of the department of physical growth, Fels Research Institute for Study of Human Development, Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Proxmire Says Plan for Pilot Mill Advancing

Washington — Senator William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today his proposal for a pilot plant paper mill to develop new markets for surplus Wisconsin hardwoods has moved a step closer to realization as the result of action taken by the senate agriculture committee.

Proxmire said the committee, of which he is a member, has approved a bill creating an industrial utilization agency to promote new markets for surplus farm and forest products.

Polish Tourists, Seaman Ask Asylum in Sweden

Stockholm — Twenty Polish tourists and a seaman have asked political asylum in Sweden since their tourist ship sailed without them Sunday.

The group brought to 39 the number of Poles who have fled from the ship Mazowsze in her four visits to Stockholm this year. The tourists just remain ashore when the vessel leaves. The seaman jumped overboard and was rescued by two Swedes.

Brooklyn waterfront. He was knocked into the East river and drowned.

Arrested the next day, Koslow said of Menter's murder: "Last night was a supreme adventure for me."

Mittman said he "never felt such a thrill" as in punching Menter after his feet had been burned.

Koslow and Mittman were saved from the electric chair by an all-male jury's recommendation that they be imprisoned for the rest of their lives.

Three weeks ago Koslow and Mittman pleaded innocent to first degree murder charges and were indicted today.

Claim Lebanese Rebels May Launch Attack on Port City of Tripoli

President Chamoun Says Defeat of Offensive Could Collapse Rebellion

Beirut, Lebanon — President Camille Chamoun says Lebanese rebels under Syrian command may launch a strong attack on the northern port of Tripoli at any moment.

But if this attack and one from the area southeast of Beirut are "beaten completely, the armed rebellion will collapse as a military movement," the pro-western president said.

He was interviewed Tuesday as government jet fighters, armored cars and artillery turned back an attack from the southeast toward the Beirut international airport. Chamoun claimed this assault was part of an all-out attempt to capture Beirut and overthrow his government.

Link With Rebels

The president said Druze tribesmen under Socialist Kamal Jumblatt were trying to link up with rebels under former Premier Saeb Salam who occupy the Basta Moslem quarter of the capital.

"I think they have been stopped," the president said.

Fighting without armor or artillery support, the mountaineers reached hill positions five miles from the airport. Government security forces and irregular supporters claimed they inflicted heavy rebel losses in protecting the vital field. It is Lebanon's only base for jet fighters, which have proved invaluable against the rebels, who lack aerial support.

But a member of the government irregulars fighting in the hills above the airport said his men are threatening to quit Italy in World War II. He won the fight unless the government sends immediate reinforcements. The informant said his men were exhausted after three days of hard fighting. He put irregular losses today at two killed and six wounded by the rebels and another four killed accidentally by government mortars.

22 Persons Killed

In Tripoli, where riots May 10 opened the rebellion, government artillery was active yesterday. The rebels said 22 persons were killed but this figure appeared high.

Chamoun said he had reports from Tripoli that Syrian officers had taken over military command after rebel leader Raschid Karami and his top lieutenant, Abdul Magaad Rani, had a falling out.

The president added he had conclusive information that the rebels around Tripoli have been promised heavy mortars from Syria with Syrian artillerymen to man them. "When these arrive, he continued, an attack may be launched, but we expect the (government) defense to be very strong."

Poet Ezra Pound Leaves for Italy

New York — Poet Ezra Pound and his wife were en route to Italy today on the Italian liner Cristoforo Colombo.

Pound, 72, plans to live in northern Italy with his daughter, Mary, the wife of Prince Boris de Rachewitz, an Egyptologist.

After an early boarding yesterday, Pound kept to himself in his cabin. He declined to talk with reporters.

Pound was released last April 21 from a Washington, D.C., mental hospital, where he spent 13 years.

The poet had been accused of treason because of pro-fascist broadcasts he made from Italy in World War II. He won the dismissal of the treason charges on a psychiatric finding that he would never be competent to stand trial.

These will not strike the moon or land on it, Dr. W. M. Pickering said, but rather "will carry some simple instruments, and send back information to us from the vicinity of the moon."

Dr. Pickering is head of the jet propulsion laboratory at Pasadena, Calif., which helped to put up the army's Explorer satellites.

He spoke to 400 top U. S. military and industrial leaders in the missile field attending the army's operation AMMO—a demonstration of weapons in the army arsenal.

The army's Jupiter, an intermediate range missile, will launch these moon missiles into space instead of the Redstone rocket which blasted off the explorers, Pickering said.

Heavier Payloads

"Using a Jupiter booster, very much heavier payloads can be put into orbit around the earth and substantial payloads can be sent to the moon and beyond," Dr. Pickering said.

Such firings by the army, he said, are useful "in the firing of militarily useful satellite vehicles" in addition to their usefulness in scientific exploration.

The army's ballistic missile agency and the jet propulsion laboratory will divide the authority for the moon shots. This is the same team which launched the Explorer satellites.

Dr. Pickering told army and NATO generals this country can regain the technical superiority it has lost to Russia, but he gave no indication when a moon shot may be made.

Two missiles never before given a public showing were fired here yesterday for the gathering of military brass and industrial leaders. A beefed-up version of the Nike Ajax—the Nike Hercules—was one, and the other was the low flying enemy-plane destroyer Hawk.

Retail Unit to Back Fox Cities Baseball Game

Association Agrees To Promote Event, Give Prizes for Fans

The Downtown Retail association approved sponsorship of a Fox Cities Foxes baseball game sometime this summer at a meeting this morning.

The association accepted a suggestion by the club which asked the organization to promote the event and provide prizes. A previous suggestion that the association buy out the park for a booster night was turned down.

Judge A. W. Parnell, representing the ball club, spoke in favor of the new proposal. He stressed civic value of professional baseball in the community and need for backing by the retail association.

"If the association will sponsor the game and provide prizes, we'll sell our own tickets," Parnell declared.

He termed the first booster night proposal as "ill-advised."

Name Chairman

Earl Miller was named chairman of a committee to make arrangements for the event.

In other business the association approved a $6,500 budget for 1958-59. Breakdown of the budget is $3,200 for an expanded Christmas program, $1,500 for promotional events, $800 for a highway guide program and $500 each for special projects and administrative costs.

Kaulum, August dollar day; Earl Miller, November Appleton day and Lawrence relations program; W. T. Bernhard, Appleton clearance days in January, 1959 and Jack Flynn, February dollar days.

Goldfine Says Adams Family Gave More Than It Received influence to help his friend in the latter's troubles with those agencies.

When Goldfine began telling the house subcommittee about the gifts he had received from Adams, he took from his wrist and passed up to Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) a round gold watch, saying it was one of two Adams had given him. Goldfine said he particularly treasured it because of the date—Jan. 20, 1953, Eisenhower's first inauguration day.

He said Adams would often give him such things as a billfold, a "beautiful swiss music box," a painting by Mrs. Adams.

He said when his son Solomon was married in 1951, "Mr. Adams, who was then governor of New Hampshire, went all the way to Chicago for the wedding and presented my son a clock."

"My wife tells me — and she's right here — Goldfine went on, "that if we could add up all we gave each other, they would be ahead — Gov. Adams and Mrs. Adams would be ahead."

Lawyers Present

"His turn of phrase, and the passing up of the watch, brought laughter from the packed audience. Harris admonished the spectators.

Goldfine obviously meant that the Adamses would be ahead as givers, not recipients, of gifts.

Two lawyers flanked Goldfine as he testified.

Seated nearby were Mrs. Goldfine and their two sons, H. Maxwell and Solomon Goldfine.

The big house caucus room was filled to standing room only and then some, just as it had been when Adams took the stand two weeks ago. Today there was an even longer line outside the room of spectators wanting to get in.

At the outset, Rep. Peter A. Mack (D-Ill) complained to Chairman Harris that Goldfine had not followed a 12-year-old house rule requiring that prepared statements to committee be submitted in advance.

Appeared on TV

Mack said he would not have raised the point except that Goldfine delivered part of his testimony on television this morning—before the committee met and had a chance to review it.

Harris agreed that the committee likes to get its prepared testimony five days in advance. But he noted the rule is seldom followed—the committee "has been rather liberal in its requirements," was how Harris put it.

The maneuver of putting out the Goldfine statement long in advance—even recording it for TV—obviously had tempers of some of the congress members smoldering.

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif) attacked Goldfine's prepared

testimony as "vicious, unfair, and unjust and unnecessary."

Moss objected particularly to a Goldfine accusation that the committee had been vicious and had used Goldfine as a stick to beat Adams over the head.

The California Democrat said Goldfine's whole 25-page statement—which Goldfine had not yet finished reading—was "a good example of a professionally written scenario."

Besides the general blast at his critics, Goldfine hit particularly in his statement at Boston financier John Fox, his principal accuser.

He described Fox as a sick man who has told many lies and "will tell many more I am sure."

Making a point of wearing one of two gold watches he said Adams had given him, Goldfine issued blanket denials plus specific arguments against a all the way to Chicago for the wedding and presented my son a clock."

goal," Eisenhower said, "it will accept the procedural proposal put forward by the western powers or advance some equally effective and workable alternative."

The procedural proposal was that in meetings between western ambassadors and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko, both sides should have the right to bring up and discuss anything without either side having a veto.

This would permit the western powers to bring up such issues as eastern Europe and German unification, to which Russia violently objects, while the Soviet government would be able to press propositions which the west has frowned on, such as an east-west non-aggression pact.

The annex to Khrushchev's letter included a review of proposals Russia had made for summit conference discussion. The western powers contended that violated an understanding that the proceedings would be kept quiet.

F. Howrey, which Adams forwarded to him, "gave us no information that we did not already possess."

As for an April 14, 1955, appointment with Howrey which Adams set up, Goldfine said no complaint against his mills was involved. At issue, he said, was a proposed FTC rule on fabric labeling which was then under discussion and which later was put into effect for the whole industry.

"My memory is clear that I did not tell Gov. Adams why we wanted this meeting or what our problem was," Goldfine said.

After the meeting, it has been testified, Goldfine asked for a telephone call to be put through to Adams at the White House and was heard telling the party at the other end of the line that he had been well received.

"Certainly I was pleased at the results of the meeting and the treatment I received. In my enthusiasm I called Gov. Adams at the White House and reported this to him. This was not done in order to impress anybody at the meeting."

The third Adams contact with a regulatory agency about a Goldfine case was made at Adams' own instance after Goldfine had complained of SEC actions against his East Boston Co., a holding firm, Adams has testified. That happened in February, 1956, when Adams had the president's special counsel, Gerald D. Morgan, find out about the case.

"I did not ask Gov. Adams to intercede for us or to do anything in this respect," Goldfine said.

so let international communism gain the ultimate victory.

"The choice is clear for me. I stand for American security, to be attained and sustained by cooperation with our friends of the free world. I am certain the American people will demand nothing less."

Eisenhower also dealt with these matters:

The true cure for civil rights problems rests with each citizen doing his duty as expected and trying to obey law and logic, rather than prejudices and emotions, Eisenhower said.

He made that statement when a reporter referred to Eisenhower's recent conference with four Negro leaders on civil rights problems generally and the school integration controversy specifically.

The reporter asked whether the conference has prompted the president to come up with any new ideas or programs in the civil rights field.

Eisenhower replied that the conference with the Negroes was on a friendly basis, that they made no extreme proposals to him.

Chrysler Plant Resumes Work After Shutdown

Detroit — One of two Chrysler corporation Plymouth plants closed earlier this week by a work standards dispute resumed production today.

However, the company sent 1,200 workers home from the Plymouth assembly plant, saying not enough bodies were available yet to keep them on the job.

The body plant, with a work force of 1,500, was the scene of the dispute over United Auto Workers union charges of a speedup in the trim department.

Leaflets accusing the company of "reliberately provoking" the dispute were passed out at plant gates as the workers went back on the job.

peaceful and gentlemanly expression of divergent opinions.

Wood and other committee members said they thought the letter was out of place and that Hammond had publicly disagreed with the policy set by the committee. Hammond also has sent members of the committee a letter explaining his objections to the proposal to hire an Indianapolis planning agency to make the master plan for a maximum cost of $72,000.

Hammond said he was all in favor of hiring outside agencies to do work when it was advisable and could be done better and less expensively than by hiring a local staff to do the work. But, he said he thought hiring an outside agency to do all the work was a mistake.

Difference of Opinion

The principal difference of opinion between Hammond and the executive committee appeared to be in the way the agreement with an outside agency would be made. Hammond said it appeared his office would be by-passed and that some of the work he has already done would not be used by the outside agency.

Committeemen said the details of the agreement would have to be worked out cooperatively after the proposal was approved in principle. They assured Hammond they had no intention of having some work duplicated and that if something could be done better locally, it would be.

They said they are only asking the member communities to authorize the maximum amount that could be spent to secure a master plan. Money will be saved in any way possible, they assured Hammond.

Hammond contended this had never been clear in any statement of policy and had not been brought out in discussions of the proposal in various communities.

Outline Request

The request for Hammond to prepare an outline of how he thought the regional plan should be accomplished came as a result of questions by Selden Spencer, town of Neenah representative on the executive committee.

Spencer wanted to know how much Hammond had done, what remained to be done and what could best be done by an outside agency and by the local planning office.

Spencer's motion to have Hammond prepare the outline for Thursday night's executive committee meeting was approved without a dissenting vote.

A second motion by Spencer to strike from the minutes the first part of the meeting in which Wood and other members of the committee and Hammond talked about differences of opinion also was approved without dissent.

Wood has asked Hammond to attend the meeting, but had not told him the purpose of the session until just before it began.

Nash Accused of Machine Politics

Milwaukee — A Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor was lectured Monday for making an accusation of machine politics against Phil-Nash, another Democratic candidate for the same office.

Jerome D. Grant, 34-year-old Milwaukee attorney, declared at a Milwaukee Democratic luncheon that the "Nash machine" has "brainwashed" its members.

Grant said Nash and his followers went to the state Democratic convention in La Crosse determined to "take over the party." He said they failed and now seek to hush criticism.

The candidate also accused Nash, former state party chairman, of trying to make the lieutenant governor's post a "political football."

Obscene Calls Trial Scheduled for Aug. 21, Bond Remains at $1,000

Trial for a Kimberly man charged with using obscene language during telephone calls to women has been set for Aug. 21 and his bond continued at $1,000 by Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede.

Henry Van Haelst, 50, has denied the charges.

Van Haelst in January was jailed on charges of making obscene calls to six Hortonville, teenage girls. He was given 90 days in jail and put on two years probation after a mental examination at Central State hospital, Waupun, indicated he was sane.

Rural Users Ask Phone Service From Kaukauna

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Twenty six subscribers of the Forest Junction Telephone company in Brown and Calumet counties have told the public service commission they want service from Kaukauna instead.

In a petition filed with the commission, Joseph Hermesen, route 3, Kaukauna, and 25 of his neighbors asked to be transferred to the service area of the Wisconsin Telephone company, Kaukauna exchange, or the Kaukauna Telephone company.

All of the customers live within a rural area surrounding the villages of Dundas, Hollandtown and Forest Junction.

They complained their present service is "very inadequate" and that "the transmission of conversation is vague and indistinct and difficult to hear."

They added their neighborhood is geographically and economically a part of the Kaukauna economic district and their principal telephone communication is with subscribers in and near the city of Kaukauna.

As a result all of their Kaukauna calls are charged on a long distance toll basis, they said.

The Kaukauna Telephone company, which has lines into the district where the petitioners live, has central office service at the Kaukauna exchange of the Wisconsin Telephone company.

Swimmers' Safety at Erb Park

As coroners often say, it usually takes a death to remedy a bad situation.

Such, it seems to us, could well be the case after the tragic death of George Reinke, Jr., 13, at Erb park swimming pool Saturday afternoon.

Coroner Bernard H. Kemps has recommended that a lifeguard should be stationed at the only entrance to the deep water section of the pool. Presumably he would be seated on a long-legged chair on one side or the other of the gate. No one, certainly, would suggest putting a lifeguard in the water for hours.

Another idea, it seems to us, would be a more thorough way of correcting this dangerous situation.

At the Kaukauna swimming pool, only swimmers who have demonstrated that they can swim from one side of the pool to the other (about 150 feet) are permitted in the deeper water. When a swimmer has passed this test he is given a small cloth patch to be sewn on his swimming suit. This year the color is green, last year it was red. Swimmers have to take a test each year; they cannot slide by on last year's patch.

Without the colored patch, swimmers cannot pass a rope at the 5-foot depth of the pool. If a lifeguard sees a youth in the deep end without a patch, out he goes. Swimmer or not, he goes out.

Such a system, it seems to us, would be easily enforceable at the Appleton pool with its single entrance from the 4-foot depth to the deep water section. It would be even easier with a lifeguard stationed at the entrance.

The only previous drowning in the pool happened nearly 17 years ago, and in that case the 14-year-old's body wasn't discovered until everyone had left the pool at night. In Green Bay the swimming pool authorities have what is called a "stop period" at regular intervals when everyone is ordered out of the pool and the bottom is checked for possible accident victims. It might be a good idea to institute something similar at Erb park.

It is the nature of youngsters to play with danger — as, in this tragic case, the Reinke brothers (who could not swim) played near the gate, floating over deep water. Usually nothing happens, but in this case it did.

The simple precaution of guarding the entrance to dangerous deep water would prevent a similar occurrence. We suggest the Appleton city council's welfare and ordinance committee seriously consider Coroner Kemps' suggestion.

Last week the same committee was offered a resuscitator for $395 to be kept at the pool. A salesman told the committee it would be at hand in an emergency; as things are now, several precious minutes must be wasted before a fire department rescue squad can arrive. It might be a good idea for the committee also to seriously consider this equipment.

No one can put a price on human lives, and any possible danger should be removed from a swimming pool which is used by up to 3,150 swimmers on a hot summer day.

Making Insurance Rates

The vindication by the state supreme court of the state insurance department in a regulatory controversy involving fire insurance and extended coverage rates is one of the significant developments at Madison lately.

It does honor to the new state insurance commissioner, Paul Rogan, who had the hardiness to assert himself in a field where the record shows several of his predecessors feared to tread since Congress some years ago turned insurance rate regulation over to the states.

The court has said, in effect, that the regulatory authorities have the right to impose some standards in rate regulation, and that the legislature did not intend that the department should simply accept or reject blindly the filings made by the underwriters.

This litigation as now concluded will mean some savings to the buyers of fire and related insurance lines. But its real meaning probably lies in the weapon provided the insurance department to apply a more stringent test to the charges of other underwriters, including the automobile casualty companies. If the two and one half per cent underwriting profit factor as now sustained for fire insurance regulation is valid, the courts can scarcely make another rule for other kinds of insurance risks.

This is a triumphant feather in the cap of the state administration. It was former Gov. Kohler who nominated Sen. Rogan, then a vigorous leader of his cause in the legislature, to the sensitive insurance department command three years ago to the accompaniment of considerable partisan hooting. It was Gov. Thomson, in his budget last year, who provided the reorganization and the staffing which has made possible a more vigilant inspection of the insurance industry which has grown to mammoth size in the last decade and has posed correspondingly critical problems of supervision.

This is the kind of responsive and enterprising state government that will ultimately stave off the tendency to monolithic Washington control of the economy. The Wisconsin legislature wrote a good insurance regulation law, one that is fair to management and investors as well as to the consuming public. The administrative agency in charge has shown a resolute will to apply it fairly, and it has now won a complete affirmation of its position in the first important test case of its kind ever to reach any state supreme court in the country.

'Meter Maids' Prove Successful

Quite a few cities around the country report that the use of "meter maids" has proven very successful. The term refers to the use of women to check parking meters and make out tickets for violations.

These women must be policewomen, of course, but in practice their work is limited to enforcement of the parking ordinances. We suppose that in most cases they are given some training in general police work so they can act in emergencies.

The advantages of using women for this work are reported to be that they cost the city less than the use of fully-trained policemen, they have proven to be less susceptible to the blandishments of parkers who try to talk themselves out of tickets, and violators generally will take a ticket from a smiling meter maid with better grace than from a regular policeman. The prime reason, of course, is that of cost — it just doesn't make sense to invest a lot of money in training a policeman and then use him for little else than handing out parking tickets.

While on this subject we would like to suggest that cities hereabouts adopt the practice of permitting parking violators to pay their fines by mail. A west coast city in which your editor lived some years ago even provided a return envelope with each ticket; the fine in that city was a dollar (and in those days a dollar was worth a dollar) yet we suspect that the percentage of fines paid was very high simply because it was so easy to slip a dollar bill into the return envelope and drop it into the nearest mailbox. In contrast, when one is required to go to the police station to pay his fine there is a temptation to ignore the ticket (hoping nothing will come of it) not because of the money involved, but because of the inconvenience.

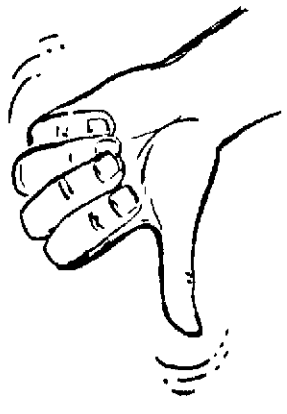

Incidentally, the value of the dollar has been cut just about in half since Appleton first put in parking meters and set the fine for the first violation at 50 cents. Isn't it about time we revised the fine to reflect inflation?

Thumbs Down!

An official of the Wisconsin Motor Vehicle department has come up with the most original idea we have seen in a long time in the field of safety.

One of the best things about it is that it can be used either on the highway or on the water.

It is a new utilization of the old "thumbs down" sign which was originally used in the Roman Colosseum — when the crowd made this sign it was a signal for a defeated gladiator to be put to death. In modern times it has come to have a general meaning of "Nix on that" or, more simply, just "No."

The new idea is for people on the highways and on our lakes and streams to turn thumbs down on recklessness. When a person drives an automobile or a boat in a reckless manner, people nearby are asked to use this ancient way of informing the violator that his audience disapproves of what he is doing. The idea is that if enough people do this, the violator will become embarrassed, or at least realize that other people in the area are up to him.

People who really act in a reckless manner constitute a very small minority of the general public; thus if enough of the vast majority who obey the rules of the road and the stream adopt this practice, the few reckless operators will find themselves the object of scorn and disapproval, and will realize how much their fellows disapprove of them. It is a gimmick, to be sure, but a good one which we hope will come into general use.

Farewell Banquet to Dr. Steele

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of July 5, 1879.

A farewell dinner was held at the Waverly House for the retiring president of Lawrence university, the Rev. G. M. Steele, Wednesday evening by citizens of Appleton.

At the appointed time, 8 o'clock, the party assembled and soon thereafter filed into the spacious dining hall. A glance at the tables showed the finest display the courtly landlord has yet made. There was an especially notable display of flowers.

Printed in neat and modest style by our contemporary, The Post, was the Bill of Fare:

Green Turtle Soup
Boiled Mackinaw Trout,
Egg Sauce
Roast Ribs of Beef;
Roast Lamb with Mint Sauce; Roast Turkey with Cranberry Sauce.
Boiled Chicken, Butter Sauce; Boiled Ham, Champagne Sauce; Boiled Corned Beef and Cabbage.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, June 28, 1933

Joshua L. Johns, Algoma, member of the Appleton Kiwanis club and formerly of this city, was elected president of Kiwanis International for 1933-34 at Los Angeles, Calif.

Willard Kiley was appointed manager and Joseph Haag captain of the Forester softball team.

Final arrangements were made for the opening of the Catholic Girls' camp at Loon Lake Saturday. The grounds were cleaned, a large fireplace was built in the assembly hall, two tennis courts were put in first class condition, sleeping quarters consisting of cabins near the lake front were remodeled so that they were airy and comfortable.

Mrs. Nita Brinckley was elected captain of the Music circle of the Congregational Church. Other officers were Mrs. A. F. Kitson, treasurer; Mrs. A. H. Wickesberg and Mrs. Fred Petersen, lieutenants; Miss Irene Albrecht, chairman of the program for the year.

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, June 30, 1948

Dr. James P. Mohr, optometrist who was in practice at Waupun for the past year, purchased the practice of Dr. M. L. Embrey with offices on W. College avenue.

Sgt. Rhinehart M. Moritz of the 85th Mechanized Cavalry Reconnaissance troop of the army reserve was awarded the bronze star medal in a ceremony at the reserve armory.

Christian Indermuhle, Appleton, was elected president of the Kluth family at the annual reunion at Pierce park. Miss Elnora Winter was elected secretary.

Miss Anna Jane Wilz and Miss Donna Mae Roehm received the improvement awards for the senior and junior ballets, respectively, during the party of the Appleton Civic ballet. The contribution award was presented to Miss Barbara Jo Fleweger.

Mayor John R. Scanlon was to attend the conference of mayors of the Fox river valley at Manitowoc Thursday.

The state law banning all types of fireworks went into effect that year.

Stevenson May Still Have Hopes for Third Nomination

From the Baltimore Sun.

Not being in England, where Mr. Adlai Stevenson is traveling, most of us stay-at-homes are hard put to judge the exact tone in which the often subtle Mr. Stevenson made his seemingly unsuitable remark: "I have not been, I am not and I will not be nominated as Democratic presidential candidate." That seemed to put the cap on it. And yet — did it? Was it expression of a wish or was it a prediction? Is it conclusive? In 1953, shortly after his first defeat for the presidency, Mr. Stevenson declared himself possessed of "no political plans or ambitions." That seemed reasonably firm. Yet three years later he disclosed not only ambitions but also political plans of sufficient effectiveness to deliver to him the Democratic presidential nomination on the very first ballot.

It is true that in presidential politics a two-time loser is more than twice as poorly off as a man who has lost but once. It is also true that some of Mr. Stevenson's 1952 luster, had worn off for many Democrats as early as 1956. Even so, the political animal is not yet born who can hear the distant sound of the campaign drumbeat and be sure that he will turn away unmoved. That drumbeat for Mr. Stevenson and a third try in 1960 is already faintly audible to those who listen for it. Perhaps he will resist, but wise observers will wait and see.

Taxes Should Be Increased

There is only one right way to cut taxes, and that is to reduce Government spending to the point where lower taxes would not unbalance the budget. But the Government is not moving in that direction; it is moving in the direction of ever-increasing spending, spending, not only for essentials like defense but also for a whole flock of activities the Government has no business engaging in anyway. That being the case, our terrible taxes must remain; in fact, they should be increased.

Under the Capitol Dome
State Financing Due For an Overhauling

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The season has been an encouraging one from the viewpoint of those persons who understand that the time for a fundamental overhauling of the finance and revenue machinery of the state is nearing.

There now is no responsible politician, in either party, who will assert that there is any way to assure a reduction of state-local expenditures in the years ahead.

Nor is there a responsible leader in politics or in public thought anywhere in the state who doubts that the expenditures prospects make inevitable basic adjustments in the tax structure of the state.

But the obvious conclusion has been avoided so eagerly during these recent years that many citizens who ought to know about it are quite unaware of it.

Now it appears that the rigidity of posture of the politicians is loosening. The two platform statements of the voluntary party organizations are among the most significant local political developments of the era. Both parties have now said, in effect, however clumsily and hesitantly, that something new probably will have to be added to the revenue system, to prevent its ultimate collapse.

Wyngaard

Yet there are more and more careful observers who suspect that some of the citizens of Wisconsin worried about income and property and other tax burdens will view with relief the idea that a new kind of tax may one day be enacted that will provide, if not relief from those other taxes, at least some promise that they won't go still higher.

All this doesn't mean that the candidates this summer and fall will be speaking in favor of the sales tax. Many of them, in all probability, will find it hard to break the habit of years. But the parties as such, in all likelihood, will try to avoid explicit declarations on the subject, which is progress of a sort. Neither of the major parties, as their platforms have hinted, quite dare to bind the signatories, so to speak.

This situation might have been attained a couple of years earlier, except for the accidents of campaign politics.

Gov. Thomson two years ago had no intention of speaking out categorically against such a reform of the tax system. He was pushed into it. Proxmire was pushing him so heavily that he saw no alternative. It was a hard choice, as he must have reflected many times since.

He risked the appearance of cowardice, as he knew. Some of his supporters were severely offended. Some Republicans have not yet forgiven him. But he can probably point to the election returns for justification. The election victory was a narrow one. Radical measures appeared to be required.

Now the picture is quite different. The new Democratic candidate, Sen. Nelson of Madison, evidently proposes to drop the Proxmire campaign theme, not because he favors a sales tax, for he doesn't, but because he feels he may become governor and he is not sure what kind of a finance program he may be forced to devise.

Nor is Gov. Thomson likely to make any more unequivocal pledges about tax policy — not because he favors a sales tax, for he does not — but because he even more surely than Nelson is aware of the revenue challenges his next term will bring and understands that this is a dangerous ground to tread.

It is a promise of unusual restraint, for the eager parties and the anxious office-seekers. It is as good an example as can be had in current politics of maturity and responsibility.

CAREFUL LANGUAGE

Lack of Good Book Reviews Unnecessary

From the Butte, Mont., Standard

The decline in the caliber of book reviewing in this country is striking. This has a bearing, more influential than might at first be supposed, on the kind and quality of the books published. With rare exceptions, publications outside New York seldom have competent reviews. Thus New York cities play a disproportionately large role in influencing the nation's literary taste and book buying habits.

This is both unfortunate and unnecessary. All over America, there are many persons competent to write book reviews far superior to those which do appear in many publications. Especially in college towns, there are scarcely tapped resources which could be utilized for a more intelligent discussion and examination of books.

Here is an instance of the unused knowledge and ability existent in America. Also, here is one aspect of the problems of literature and culture in a democratic society. The number of persons who are ever exposed to an intelligently written review or discussion of a serious, worthwhile and important book constitutes but a small percentage of the population. This condition is worsening because of a decline in the number of quality magazines.

In some of our propaganda abroad, we speak of American culture. But here at home, our culture is being pressed into an isolated corner. The shortage of competent book reviews is a symptom of that significant change.

Evidence Backfires In 'Jane Eyre' Suit

New York — "Jane Eyre," one of the costliest ventures in Broadway annals, ran into unexpected expense and a new dispute while trying to settle a previous controversy.

The sponsors of the production, which has cost an estimated half million dollars, have a suit pending before Actors Equity association because Errol Flynn withdrew as the star.

As part of the evidence, a recording was made of one performance. The tape backfired when Equity said its regulations require the cast receive a full week's pay for the record. The claim is being opposed on the grounds it was made specifically for evidence.

Ed Murrow Has New Interview Show in Works

Will Feature Three People Conversing From Different Spots

BY JINGO

Edward R. Murrow has a new show he's offering for sponsorship. It's called "Small World" and, at first appearances, seems like a large advertisement for telephones. The show will involve a 3-way conversation between three people at widely separated points around the globe. Murrow will be the man in the middle who starts and helps the conversation along.

"In our pilot film," says Murrow, "we have Lauren Bacall talking from Hollywood, Malcolm Muggeridge, retired editor of 'Punch,' from Australia, and Eric Johnston, head of the Motion Picture Association of America, from Washington."

"Their conversation ranged all the way from politics to books to fashions to the responsibility of the press in covering movie morals. They were wonderfully spontaneous and the cameras got many fantastic reaction shots."

Murrow says he would like to hold the conferences about four days before air time. Wishfully, he adds, "Dulles and Acheson discussing American foreign policy would be a nice combination with a kibitzer from abroad, wouldn't they?"

If you're watching "Playhouse of Stars" on TV July 25 and get the idea you've seen or heard the show before, don't be alarmed.

The program's story will be "Long Distance" by Harry Junkin. It's played radio and television at least 20 times since Junkin wrote it in 1940. Jessica Tandy will star this time.

The story - line involves a woman who has turned up new evidence and can't get through to authorities to stop execution of her husband because circuits are busy.

Jingo's Jewels: "Diary of a Teenager," a series presented by CBS-TV in cooperation with the National Council of Churches, will begin a 9-week cycle on "Look Up and Live" Sunday . . . Public Hearing Set By Kimberly Board

Seek to Transfer 52 Acres From One
School District to Another July 28

Kimberly — A public hearing on attachment of 52.51 acres of land to school district No. 6 from district No. 1 has been set for July 28 by the village board.

The land which the board seeks to transfer is the Van Daelwyk property, first and second additions, on the west side of the village.

Both additions have been annexed to the village but have not been changed to the school district in the community. The property was formerly in the town of Buchanan.

The public hearing will be at 8 o'clock in the evening in the council room. Any residents of the town of Buchanan who would oppose the move are requested to appear at the hearing. If there is opposition it would mean that the village would reimburse the township for taxes collected there but the town would then have to be responsible for school transportation for all children from that area.

The first addition contains 29.51 acres and the second is 23 acres in size. New homes have been built in the first addition but no home construction has been started in the second.

In other action the board granted a class B retailer's license to the Kimberly Recreation association to sell beer at a baseball game Thursday night at the athletic field.

Clifford Turkow, 221 Maple street, Kimberly, was granted an operator's license. Mrs. Genevieve Western was granted a cigar license.

The annual audit report of the Carl Becher company, Appleton, was received and placed on file.

The Klubbers started out the season by playing low scoring tilts but the team has come through with good scoring efforts in the last three outings. Kaukauna downed Two Rivers 10 to 3, beat Reedsville 13 to 7 and then lost to Freedom 16 to 13. Kaukauna needs a win tonight if it hopes to finish first half play with a winning edge. The team currently has a record of four wins and four losses.

Coach Jerry Klarer will start Gerry Hopfensperger on the mound as he pitched only four innings in Sunday's tilt. Joe DeBruin will be held in reserve should Hopfensperger run into trouble with the hard hitting Maes.

Industrial Development Leaders Named Group Given Support In Ball Loops

Little Chute Board Names Representatives And Donates $100 to Help Committee

Little Chute — Support for the Industrial Development committee was given by the village board Tuesday night.

The board named two representatives to serve with the committee and allowed $100 to the group for stationary and other necessary items.

Representing the board will be Jack Lamers and Robert Vanden Boogaard. The first meeting of the committee will be July 9.

The board heard a request by Edward Siedschlag, representative of the Fox Valley Sheet Metal Contractors association, for amending the natural gas ordinance to require cementing of furnaces that are two years or older when conversion units are installed. The matter was referred to the building and grounds committee for checking.

The ordinance committee reported that forms for mobile home owners are available. Persons owning mobile homes in the village are requested to stop at the clerk-treasurer's office and fill out one of the forms. Registration is necessary whether persons are living in the trailer or not.

Sidewalk Contract
The contract for sidewalk installation work in the village was awarded to Kerrigan and Johnson of Appleton. Bid price was 30 cents per square foot for four inch walk, 36 cents for six inch and 35 cents for four inch where the old walk has to be torn out and replaced.

The street commissioner was authorized to call in the sidewalk contractor to have walks installed in those areas where property owners have been given their 20 day notice. Work is expected to start Monday.

Three property owners on Taft street will be sent notices requesting them to have sidewalk installed within 20 days or the village will do it and bill them.

Operator's license were approved for Robert Schinke, Mark Gallagher and Ervin De Bruin.

The building and grounds committee reported it had checked a drainage ditch at the athletic field and recommended lowering of a catch basin at the north end of the field in order to handle waste from the Essential Products corporation.

Ball players complained at the last meeting because the present ditch is constantly filled with water creating a hazard during games.

Judge Lifts Injunction on Insurance Policy

Parnell Says City Can Sign Contract For 268 Employees

The city of Appleton can sign an insurance contract for its workers, Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell ruled today.

Judge Parnell June 18 issued a temporary injunction preventing a group life insurance contract to be written for about 268 city employees. Arthur J. Coffey, an Appleton insurance man, requested the injunction.

Judge Parnell said today he could see "little cause" for stopping the city from executing the contract with Equitable Life - Assurance company through Carl Sherry, its agent. "City Atty. Don Jury this morning argued the price—$2.20 per month per employee by Coffey and $2.72 per month per employee by Sherry's firm—was a small part of city action in awarding the contract."

Other Factors
Jury maintained other factors—claims settlement, type of company and other technical points—were far more important than the cost per month per employee.

Coffey also charged the original Equitable bid failed to name the submitting agent, but Jury said Sherry informed the city clerk of who was submitting the bid at the time of submission.

Jury said in one instance the board of public works corrected a total premium on the Coffey bid. He cited this as an example of the informalities which the board waived—correcting or changing items after bids were opened rather than calling for new bids or tossing out the submitted bids.

Coffey's attempt to prevent the Equitable firm from signing up city employees has received a set-back, but there still is a court action to be settled.

Driver Dozes, Car Careens, Couple Injured

An Appleton couple was injured this morning in an automobile accident on Highway 47 just north of County Trunk A. County police said the car, driven by Henry T. Quella, 60, 742 W. Eighth street, traveled about 53 feet on the shoulder of the highway, 280 feet in a ditch, careened 100 feet across the road and traveled another 94 feet in a ditch before stopping.

Quella and his wife, Clara, 60, were taken to St. Elizabeth hospital. Quella received an injured left shoulder and left knee, his wife was in shock with possible internal injuries. Quella told county police he must have dozed off.

Bottling Company Paces Cub Loop

Little Chute — In Cub Scout softball league play the Little Chute Bottling company is setting the pace with a 6-1 record.

Look's Hardware ranks second with a 4-3 slate and EZ Guide Doors are third with a 3-4 mark. Hanegraaf's Supermarket is fourth with a 1-6 record.

The teams have received new shirts donated by members of the Businessmen's association. Games are played each Monday at the Athletic field.

Forfeits $15 for Disorderly Conduct

Little Chute — Ronnie Williams, 20, 528 Pierce street, forfeited a bond of $15 after he was arrested Saturday by village police. Williams was arrested following a disturbance at his home.

Injunction means the city can sign a contract with Equitable. However, Coffey's claim the city cannot legally sign this contract will come up for trial in circuit court Aug. 11.

Jury indicated this morning he didn't feel the trial would jeopardize any contract signed with Equitable.

Schultz Company Granted License for Trailer Court

Chilton — The Eldon A. Schultz Realty company, operated by Eldon A. Schultz, route 1, Menasha, has been granted a license to maintain a trailer camp in the town of Harrison. License was granted by the town board June 17 and will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1958.

The trailer camp, or mobile home court, is about a half-mile south of the Appleton city limits, east of Highway 10. It has been under close surveillance by the Calumet county zoning agency and the Harrison town board for the last nine months.

The license limits trailers to 40 units until proof is submitted to the Harrison board that the industrial commission plumbing division, is satisfied that sufficient sewage im-placemnts have been made to accommodate additional trailers. In no instance are more than 60 trailers to be at the court.

Schultz will need to reapply to the town board for a license renewal each Jan. 1. Schultz began construction of the mobile home court in September, 1957, after getting an informal, verbal approval from the Calumet county park commission, which acts as the county zoning agency. The park commission did not immediately follow through with the necessary legal procedures to rezone the area.

Failure by Schultz to clear the project with the town of Harrison, which maintains its own zoning regulations, complicated the problem. Construction continued on the mobile home court which, according to Schultz, was laid out to house 200 potential units at an overall cost in excess of $350,000.

At its June session the Calumet county board of supervisors rezoned a 400 foot strip of land extending from the Appleton city limits to the Waverly corner, east of Highway 10, from agricultural to commercial classification.

Since the town of Harrison zoning regulation has been ruled as more restrictive than the county ordinance, it was necessary for Schultz to reapply to the town board for license to operate the mobile home court.

Can Be Revoked
The license can be revoked at any time by the Harrison board if the Schultz firm does not comply with all the laws, rules and regulations of the federal and state governments pertaining to trailer courts, or the ordinances, and regulations of the town of Harrison.

Schultz had made application for the construction of 200 units. There are now 38 trailer units at the site.

The power of the town board to limit the number of units at the court has been exercised on the basis of a recent supreme court decision which has ruled that a municipality may restrict the number of operating mobile homes to stabilize the nature of the problems created by them. This would tend to minimize the unbalancing of school systems and the need for more police and fire protection.

Order 1-Block Widening on N. Lawe St.

Alderman Seeks Ban On Parking Along One Side to E. College

Widening of N. Lawe street to 41 feet from 32 feet between E. Wisconsin avenue and E. Surpmer street will be asked at tonight's city council meeting.

The street and sanitation committee is requesting the widening with concrete as a solution to a traffic bottleneck.

Ald. Homer Malmstrom, in addition, will submit a resolution calling for a parking ban on the west side of the street all along the section between E. Wisconsin and E. College avenue.

Other Actions

Other committee recommendations:

The committee wants the engineering department to prepare plans for a concrete pavement on N. Oneida street from Highway 41 south to the end of the present curb and gutter. Former Ald. John Schumacher sought concrete a year ago, but Ald. Clarence Lautenschlaeger, at the last council meeting, asked for an asphalt mat.

S. Telulah avenue, being opened this year between E. Fremont street and E. Calumet street, should be graded, the committee believes, for eventual installation of concrete paving, since it is a primary street. The ordinary 96 cents-a-foot assessment for grading and graveling should be reduced, the committee said.

The city clerk should be instructed to ask Wisconsin Michigan Power company to revise its gas main work program, the committee ruled, to provide for more prompt replacement of boulevard lawns. The committee also is recommending that the power company hire qualified

Driver Arrested After He Admits Hit, Run Crash

Appleton police early this morning booked Earl B. Baier, 23, 1528 N. Kenilworth avenue, after he called them from a restaurant and told them he had driven a hit and run car.

Police found his car and identified it as his by the time he called.

Baier's auto hit a 1957 car in the 600 block of W. Wisconsin avenue as he drove west. Baier fled north on N. Richmond street. Witnesses followed his car and saw it vanish into a field past a dead-end at W. Hawes avenue.

Police found Baier's car almost hidden in a ditch in the center of the field.

The car struck by Baier's was owned by Wallace Roblee, 1630 S. Memorial drive.

A car driven by A. J. Vandenberg, 61, New London, collided with a Chicago and North Western switch engine at the railroad tracks and N. Oneida street Tuesday. Vandenberg's car was pulled out of a parking lot and collided with the train. He said the wig-wag warning signals were not in operation.

City Seeks Bids On Old Garage, Boat House Slip

More public, individual and group participation is needed to reduce accidents and fatalities, Gordon A. Bubolz, president of Home Mutual Insurance company said in a talk at the monthly safety conference of officers of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company this morning.

Bubolz commended the power company and other industrial plants and manufacturing establishments for safety results achieved through group effort. This same effort, he said, is needed for boating and highway safety which present challenging problems to the community and society.

Pledge Clean Streets

Contractors on all major building projects in the city this morning pledged to take steps to keep streets near their projects free of mud and debris. They met with Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell, at his request, at city hall.

Around Home

Anything can happen when you're swimming, as far as 17-year-old Dennis Zimmer is concerned. Reaching for a beach ball in the waters of Lake Winnebago at the Fresh Air camp two miles south of Neenah, he came up without the ball but with a 14-carat gold man's wedding ring on his little finger. The young man, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Zimmer, Wheeler's point, Menasha, is trying to find the rightful owner.

Rugland Won't Appear Tonight On Depot Move

The scheduled appearance of Chamber of Commerce President Walter L. Rugland tonight before the city council has been cancelled, Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell said today.

Rugland was to have told the council why the chamber is urging steps to have the Chicago and North Western Railway company move its passenger depot back downtown.

No recommendations involving the railroad depot are scheduled to come before the council, Mitchell said.

A letter to railroad Chairman Ben W. Heineman, inviting him or his representative to talk with the city council's public safety committee on July 8 has been sent and a reply received. Fred O. Stead, general solicitor for the North Western, said in a letter today that E. H. Borgelt, North Western counsel in Wisconsin, will meet with the committee on July 21.

Wednesday, July 2, 1958

The railroad moved its passenger depot service from the downtown depot to Appleton Junction in March.

Erb Park Talks

A temporary date for the meeting of the board of public works, school board and park board over Erb park for school purposes has been set, Aug. 28, Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell said Tuesday.

'Poisoning Minds'

Soviet Press Attacks Religion, Asks More Propaganda Against It

BY ROY ESSOYAN

Moscow.—Religion is still attracting young and old in the Soviet Union.

The reason, the Soviet press says, is that the nation's educators and propagandists are falling down on the job of "countering religious propaganda."

Two leading Moscow newspapers, Trud and Soviet Russia, recently assailed religion on the same day. Both demanded a stepped-up campaign to stop what Soviet Russia described as "the insidious spread of religious propaganda which is drawing young people into its net and poisoning their minds with wild prejudices."

"Incompatible" Trud published a letter from an 87-year-old Ukrainian Baptist who suggested timidly that as a general rule a believer was more kindly disposed than a nonbeliever and after all what harm could he do to communism?

"The teachings of Communism are incompatible with religion," Trud retorted.

Soviet Russia said similar arguments are reported by readers throughout the country. Religion, it said, will not die out by itself. It must be rooted out, and the struggle against it must be waged without letup.

Sarcastically, the paper noted that some propaganda organizations in the Soviet Union "seem to think that freedom of conscience (officially sanctioned by the Soviet constitution) means freedom to believe and spread religious beliefs."

"Determined educational work is needed to free the minds of the people of old attitudes," Soviet Russia said. "To disperse the fog of superstition, to raise the people to light and knowledge, to arm the masses with a materialistic outlook on the world is a noble and elevating task."

Trud ridiculed its meek Ukrainian letter writer's suggestion that religion is harmless. The Bible, it said, is full of words like "destroy," "annihilate," "smash" and "set afire."

"Are these words of peace?" it asked. Appealing to its women readers, Trud said that according to the Bible, woman is inferior to man for after all was she not born of Adam's rib? In the Soviet Union women are told that they are equal to men.

As for Baptists, Trud said, Rockefeller—a bad word in the Soviet Union—is a Baptist.

Player Can't Collect Claims From Gambling Through Nevada Courts

Carson City, Nev. —(AP) — No, you can't go to a Nevada court to collect a gambling debt from a casino.

The Nevada supreme court long has held gambling house operators can't use the courts to collect their debts from players.

It held for the first time

Monday that a player likewise cannot go to court when he feels the house improperly failed to pay him his winnings.

The ruling came in a Las Vegas case involving a customer's claim for $12,500 from a $3 50 keno ticket.

The court held that if the gambling licensee, in this case a hotel, was liable, the state tax commission, which licenses and regulates legal gambling in the state, would have acted.

Work Outpriced, So Americans Pay For Unemployment With High Taxes

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Congressional language is oftentimes confusing as well as peculiar. Perhaps that is why so many cases go to the supreme court for interpretation. For instance, I have just been reading Public Law 84-441 and Title I of this act is entitled: "Individuals Who Have Exhausted Their Rights."

Sokolsky

Of course, this refers to temporary unemployment. Nevertheless the title indicated above is foolish because an American can never exhaust his rights and nobody can make him do that. What who ever wrote the act should have said that certain individuals had used up their unemployment compensation and were going to get more money from the federal government to prevent the recession from becoming a deep depression. Also that the federal government did not have this money but would raise it out of taxes or by selling bonds.

In fact, the term unemployment compensation is a bad one because it gives the impression that a person is compensated for being unemployed, which makes a virtue out of a vice. It is a vice to be unemployed because it has the effect of making an individual a dependent upon the others, namely other taxpayers.

Work Outpriced
In a good society, everybody ought to be able to find employment, and they would in ours if work were not outpriced to the degree that do-it-yourself has become a fashion. In a word, if a man cannot find one kind of work, he might find another kind, but to-day that is prevented by trade unionism. Men who never wielded a paint brush will buy one of those paint-spitting contraptions and will cover their own garages with preparations that do them well. It is not that there is a sudden spurt of muscular activity among the white collared, but when wages run too high, lots of folks keep their money at home and pay it out in taxes rather than in high prices which are repugnant.

Being compensated for not working is therefore an unsound theory; the thing to do is get work for people of all ages and all sizes. I was looking through one of those mail order house catalogs that women like these days—catalogs which have antiques and Christmas presents and all kinds of unusual gimmicks. Some are low-priced and some are high-priced but too few are made in the United States. They come from many foreign countries where wages and taxes are lower and therefore prices are lower.

I had to warn my family that in this household nothing comes in that is made behind the iron curtain. Even so, goods are not always properly labeled. For instance, an article is labeled "Hongkong." Where does it come from? It might be Canton, Amoy, Swatow, almost anywhere in red China. It works its way to Hongkong and is sold from there. Also some of our allies process hams and similar items which come from behind the iron curtain. This is a matter of individual taste. I do not want Khrushchev to have a dollar of my hard-earned money, if I know about it. Some people never mind what they help to support and they do not read labels. That is their right, right too. Obviously it is impossible to exhaust the rights of an American.

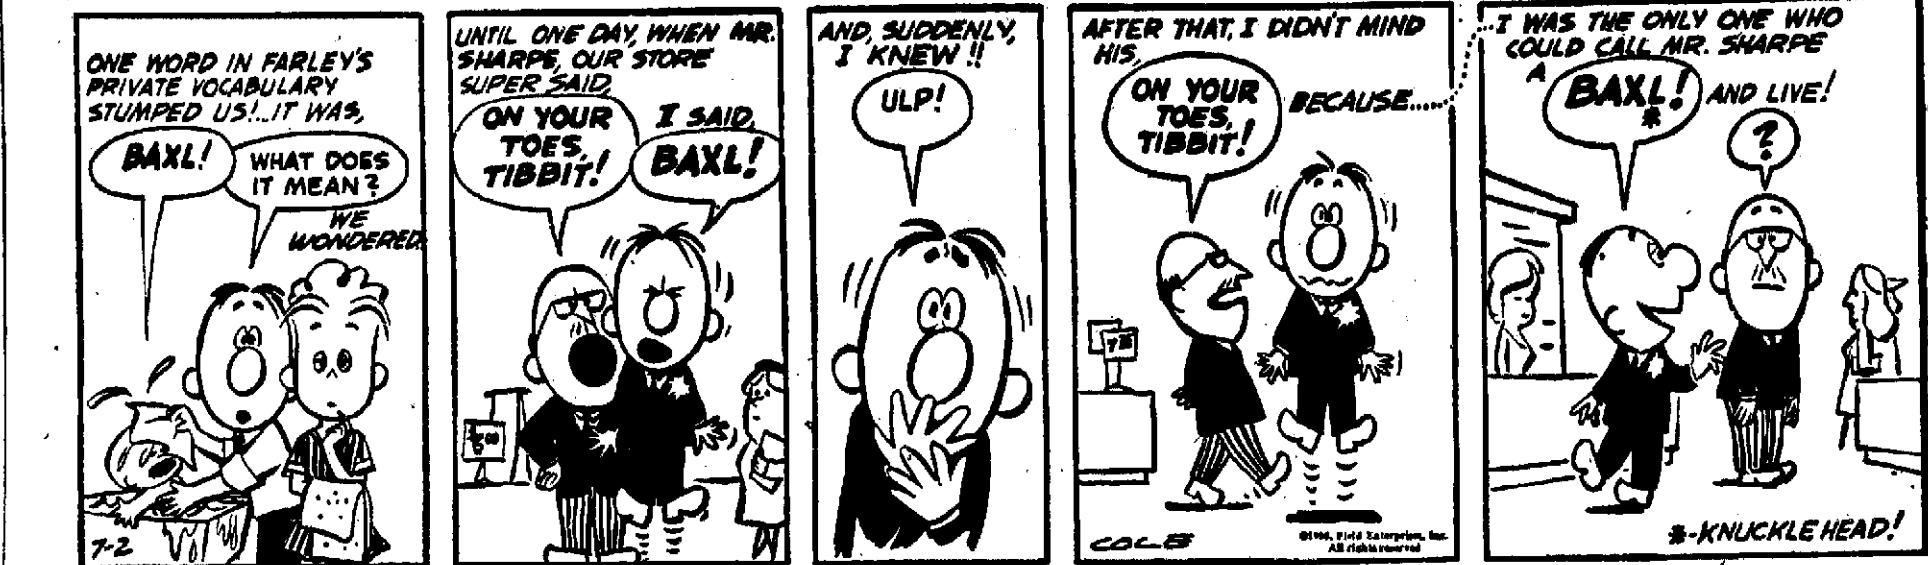

Denied to Aliens
Public Law 85-441, which started this comment, has a provision in it which denied its benefits to aliens employed by communist governments or organizations. But what about Americans employed by communist government and organizations? Apparently their rights are not exhausted. They may continue to be paid by our federal and state governments to proceed with their work of disturbing the United States. The law safeguards them.

Why should communist governments or organizations employ aliens when they can find Americans who will do their work? Obviously, it would be ridiculous and so as far as it is possible, they do employ Americans some of whom even attend presidential and congressional press conferences as duly authorized and authenticated; also they can get compensation if they lose their jobs, and their rights are not exhausted when their states run out of money. This is a good racket for anyone without a conscience, and many have no consciences but only know that it is good to be employed and bad to be unemployed, compensation or no compensation.

Driveways for Hotel Approved

The city will permit two Conway hotel driveway entrances off E. Washington street when the planned 75-room hotel addition is constructed, street and sanitation committeemen have decided.

John Conway told the committee the driveways will lead to a drive-in registration desk. The addition, announced in January, probably will be six stories high and take a year to build.

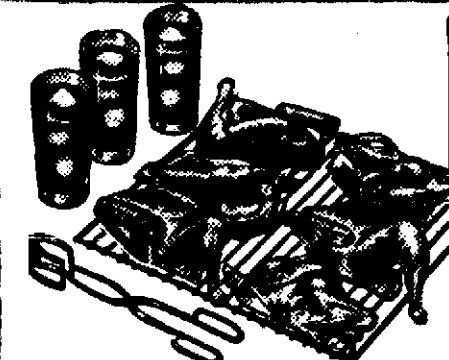

While the driveway request means the hotel will switch its main entrance to E. Washington, Conway said there also will be an entrance on N. Oneida street.

William B. Tabler, New York architect, is drawing plans for the addition.

Showcase Barns Being Built on University Farm

New Experiment Facility Provides For Spectators

A showcase is being constructed for the University of Wisconsin's dairy husbandry experiments at the University farm at Arlington.

The Wisconsin Agricultural Writers Association visited the newest state experimental farm in Columbia county 20 miles north of the agriculture college Tuesday. E. E. Heizer, chairman of dairy husbandry at the university, and Robert Muckenhirn, assistant director of the experimental station, conducted the daily newspaper farm editor's tour.

The farm will be the culmination of planning that began in 1952. First purchases of the ultimate 2,500-acre layout were made in 1954. Footings for the dairy husbandry center, the first establishment to be started, were poured at the beginning of this construction season.

Roughage Experiment
A 5-year roughage feeding experiment is the first project set up for the dairy center and provisions have been worked into the all-steel barns to provide best possible facilities for the public to examine the activities.

Heizer said quarters on the campus are visited by an average of two busloads of school children each day and expects more people will visit the Columbia county farm.

In front of the milk parlors on Highway 51 will be about three-quarter of an acre of lawn with a sweeping U-shaped drive past the windows of the parlors. It will be possible for a family to drive into the farm's front yard, park and watch the milking operations without leaving its car.

Five Raised Stalls
Half of the 40 by 200 foot barn is the milking parlor, with five stalls raised to the level of the windows. There is a lowered section for spectators' aisle in front. Four cows will be milked at a time, with the fifth stall for preparations.

The milking parlor opens to two pairs of loafing pens connected by stairs made of 5-inch risers and 2-foot wide steps. The cows are admitted through remotely controlled, air pressure doors operated by the herdsman.

Directly behind the parlor is what could be called the infirmary, where calving or sick cows are kept. They are shunted into this room through another remote control door that blocks passage to loafing pens and the feeding barn.

A guard-railed runway for spectators borders both loafing pens.

Behind Milking Parlor
Behind the milking barns is the 40 by 240 foot feeding barn, grain and silage areas and scales. Behind that is the 40 by 200 foot loafing barn for heifers.

The experiment calls for feeding three different diets: all roughage, light supplement of grain and the present type of grain supplement. All types of silage will be used. The 60-head of cows will be divided into three lots and the 100-head of young stock also will be given controlled diets.

Behind the feed barn is the loafing area for the young stock. The courts between the three barns will be paved and the barns are wide enough to use a truck-mounted blade for cleaning.

First cows are expected to be moved into the farm in September from campus quarters.

Work, Thoroughness Go Into Making of Officer

Students in the Wisconsin Military Academy's first class sponsored by the 32nd Infantry division of the National Guard found that thoroughness and hard work are the ingredients that go into the making of an officer. So says Sgt. Hobert L. Crouch, Company D, 127th infantry regiment, Appleton.

one of the 50 cadets who completed the academy's first two weeks of schooling.

Seven training sessions in Madison and another 2-week period in 1959 at Camp McCoy are ahead of the cadets, all of them selected volunteers, before they win their second lieutenant bars, Crouch stated. The academy is the first of its kind in Wisconsin.

There was none of the traditional military "hurry up and wait" during the first two weeks of training, the Appleton cadet said. Although reveille wasn't until 5 o'clock in the morning, cadets were up at 4:30 to get a running start for the day's events. Breakfast was from 5:45 to 6:45 and at 6:55 cadets were standing tall for in-ranks inspection.

Classes Begin
Classes began at 7:30 in the morning and there was no let up in training, except for meals, until lights out at 11 o'clock at night. Instruction covered a wide range of military subjects—from military courtesy and airborne operations to tank warfare and the basics of the M1 rifle. Veteran instructors in the division taught classes from army infantry school lesson plans. All examinations taken by the cadets will be graded at the infantry school in Ft. Benning, Ga.

Atmosphere at the academy was much the same as at a regular army officer candidate school — except subjects were taught, and learned, at a faster clip. Cadet ratings are based on academic work and leadership ability, shown during training. Each day cadet platoon officers and sergeants and company officers were rotated to give them command experience.

"Everything was done at double-time," Crouch explained. Most of the time cadets were restricted to the company area. An hour off to go to the PX was as coveted as a weekend pass for ordinary soldiers.

No Let Down
There was no let down from the military bearing that dominated every moment of a cadet's academy life, said Crouch, whose own appearance is as crisp and sharp as that of a West Point cadet.

When a cadet was called to attention he snapped to the old-time military brace — a total effort that arrests every muscle in the body. He is in it at every formation — even when he lines up for chow and when he eats.

The cadet's uniform is his badge of honor. While training in the program, Crouch wears a neatly pressed khaki uniform with the academy crest on the left side of the blouse. He also wears a black helmet liner with the crest on the side and black epaulets on his shoulders.

Both Crouch and a brother cadet, Master Sgt. Chris Nielsen, Neenah, will be acting platoon leaders in their units at weekly National Guard training sessions. At the conclusion of training next summer, they will become officers in the Red Arrow division.

Cherry Court youngsters and their parents scanned the sky anxiously Tuesday afternoon for threatening rainclouds which might cancel the court's third annual ice cream social. Clear skies and warm breezes were on hand, however, that evening when the families gathered at the adjoining yards of the George Saunders, 76 Cherry court, and the S. C. Rogers, 82 Cherry court. Above, the cool dessert was enjoyed by Mrs. H. M. Marty, left, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Schneider and Mr. Marty.

Our Children Parents Often Overlook Own Offspring's Talents

BY ANGELO PATRI
Lulubelle and her mother were visiting. They had come from a distance to see their relatives and Olive, about the same age as Lulubelle, decided that her aunt had brought her daughter along just to show off her talents and show up her lack of them.

Lulubelle had brought her violin along and cheerfully played whenever she was asked to do so. She happily showed the family group and their guests her ballet steps; she sang when opportunity offered; she had something to say in the general conversation. Lulubelle was a star performer.

After the guests had departed, indeed before the echo of the car wheels had died out of the driveway, Olive's mother said, complainingly, "Now why can't you be like that? There's a girl your age, who can do about everything."

Olive, who had been choking for about a week let go. "Sure. She can sing and dance and jabber. But she can't, or won't make her bed; she can't wash the dishes; she can't get up in the morning and make her father's coffee; I'm here for that. But I'm just nobody alongside that showoff. Go get your Lulubelle, you like her so much."

Now dad who had sat by in grim quiet spoke, "Olive, if you were like Lulubelle I'd drown you in a spoonful of water." "Oh, Daddy," said Olive and threw her arms about his neck. "Well, well," said Mother, "I really didn't mean—of course—but now Olive be sensible. I only meant—"

Isn't it odd how the neighbors' children are either pests or paragons of perfection? Odd how one's own never are just as good as they might be nor as brilliant as someone else's? Queer how blind one can be to the virtues of one's own at times while the virtues of others' children sparkle like stars in one's vision?

It is useless to compare children in such fashion. Each has his own faults, his own virtues, his own high points. They are what make him the personality he is and he can be no other.

'Firecrackers,' 'Bombs' July 4th Party Treats

A Bowl of Butterscotch popcorn makes an appetizing centerpiece for the holidays. Red firecrackers, standing like sentinels around it, are really push-up popcorn balls.

Popcorn Bowl Decks Table for Holiday

Here's good news for those who are looking for a way to dress up holiday tables with decorations that are attractive, novel, good-to-eat and inexpensive!

You can expect praise for your originality when you serve popcorn firecrackers and luscious butterscotch popcorn.

The gay firecrackers are really push-up popcorn balls, and butterscotch popcorn in a big bowl makes an attractive centerpiece.

Best of all, these easy-to-prepare treats can be made ahead of time, wrapped in waxed paper and served fresh and crisp at party time.

Butterscotch Popcorn
1 pound butterscotch candy
1 cup light brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
1 cup water

1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 quarts salted popcorn
Combine candies (or sugar), butter, water and salt in heavy saucepan, place over very low heat and allow candies to melt, stirring frequently.

Cook syrup until it reaches light crack stage (280-290 degrees).

Remove from heat and stir in vanilla. Pour syrup over popped corn and stir with large buttered spoon until kernels are thoroughly coated.

Spread candy coated popcorn onto waxed paper to cool. When cool, break into small pieces.

Popping Firecrackers
Cut into 4-inch lengths the cardboard tubes from the centers of paper toweling, waxed paper, aluminum foil, etc. Cover the outside of about six tubes with red paper, using rubber cement or cellophane tape to hold in place.

Cut pieces of waxed paper the same width as the tubes, roll them up and drop into tubes, folding just a little over the top edge of tubes.

Fill the tubes with syrup coated popcorn. Stick a short length of pipe cleaner or stick candy in the top for the wick. Shape leftover corn into balls, wrap in cellophane and tie with red, white and blue ribbons.

White Popcorn Syrup
2 cups granulated sugar
1/2 cup butter
1 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 quarts salted popcorn
Combine sugar, butter, water and salt in heavy saucepan, blend well and cook over low heat to light crack stage (280-290 degrees F).

Remove from heat and stir in vanilla. Pour syrup over popped corn and stir with large buttered spoon until kernels are coated.

These "Incendiary" Little Cookies covered with red sugar are sure-fire conversation pieces with their realistic built-in fuses, the stem of a cookie-coated maraschino cherry.

Apollo Rho Installs New Officers

Miss Karen Laehn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Laehn, Sr., 733 S. Fairview street, assumed her office as president of Apollo Flor Theta Rho Girls club in recent installation ceremonies closing the regular meeting session.

Others taking chairs were Miss Judy Potter, vice president; Miss Joyce Kieffer, recording secretary; and Miss Marilyn Schiedermayer, treasurer. Miss Laehn appointed the following girls to office: the Misses Deanna Netzel, conductor; Karen Van Dinter, warden; Mary Kramer, marshal; Ruth Nelson, inside guardian; Mary Nelson, musician; Donna Ellefson, right supporter to vice president; and Joyce Magnuson, right supporter to president.

The club has planned a two-day trip to Chicago on July 19 and 20. Regular meeting schedule will be resumed Sept. 10, with Miss Laehn to preside.

Cookies 'Bang-Up' Dessert

The enterprising hostess who serves "cherry bombs" at her Fourth of July party is sure to walk off with top honors.

Served with ice cream, cherry bombs are bound to make any summertime party go off with a bang.

Cherry Bombs
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon water
14 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
About 2 dozen maraschino cherries with stems, well drained
Red sugar

Cream butter and blend in sugar. Add water and stir in flour and salt, mixing well. Use spoon to dip out dough and then shape around cherry leaving stem showing at top. Roll in colored sugar. Place "bombs" on ungreased cookie sheet and bake in moderate, 325-degree oven for 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about two dozen cookies. If dough is too soft, chill slightly.

Clouds Hint at More Showers

Humid Air Holds Tight Grip on Area; Report Storm Damage

Hot, humid air licked hungrily at the Fox Cities again today while heavy clouds carried a threat of more rain.

Tuesday morning's electric storm, which dumped .38 inches of rain on the area, was followed by scattered showers through the day and evening, bringing total precipitation for the 24-hour period to .51 inches.

Lightning Tuesday struck a circuit and burned out 50 coils in a generator at the new Badger Utility plant in Kaukauna, causing an estimated $7,000 to $8,000 damage, according to Manager William Ranquette, of the Kaukauna water and electric department.

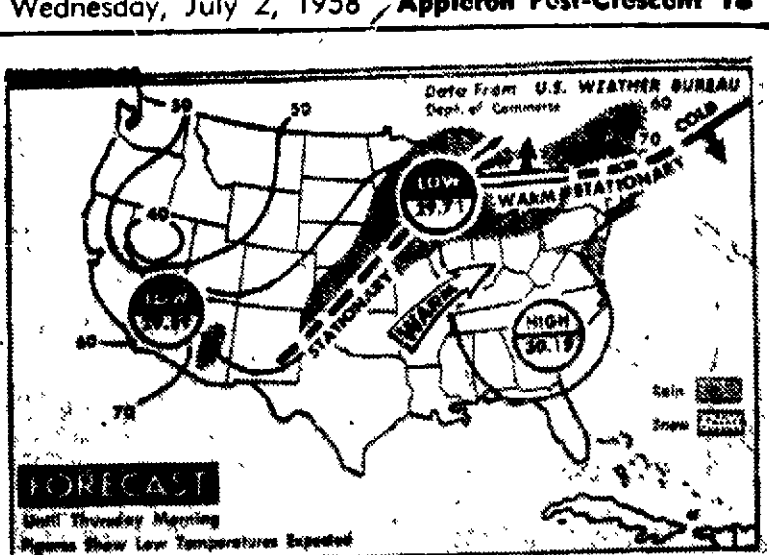

A bolt also burned out a motor in the Kaukauna water department, causing about $2,000 damage. The stoppage lasted about five minutes while the auxiliary system was put into operation.

High humidity and above normal temperatures extended across most areas east of the Rockies to the Atlantic coast.

Forecasters call for partly cloudy to cloudy weather Thursday with little change in temperature.

Appleton's highest temperature Tuesday was 84 and the overnight low was 70. The mercury had moved to 74 degrees at 11 o'clock this morning.

The extended forecast calls for temperatures averaging 2 to 5 degrees below normal. The normal high north is 74 to 80. Normal high south is 79 to 84 degrees. Normal lows range from 51 north to 63 south.

No Significant Temperature Changes are expected throughout the nation tonight. Scattered thunderstorm activity is expected in the central plains, upper Mississippi valley, Great Lakes area and northern New England. (AP Wirephoto)

Lawrence Says:

Admission of Alaska Brings New Adventure

Statehood Means
Opportunities for Many New Settlers

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — It isn't often that a state is admitted to the union. The last time it happened was 46 years ago when Arizona and New Mexico came in. The event caused a lot of excitement then—and the boom isn't over in those states yet. Lawrence

The admission of Alaska will bring the same kind of excitement—new hope and new adventure.

For a new state means new opportunities for millions of people. It means some hardship, of course for new settlers. But it means also a chance to make money—and that's a motivation which has stirred men many times in American history. Thus the "gold rush" to the Klondike area in Alaska in 1896 took on the same pattern as the "gold rush" to California in 1849.

What does the entry of a new state really mean? It affects not merely those who want to set up a stake in the 103,000,000 acres previously owned by the government that will be thrown open to settlement. Our own Pacific northwest will benefit by the increased trade, and indirectly there will be an impact commercially on the people of the United States as a whole.

New Market

For if Alaska — which in area is twice the size of Texas — becomes more heavily populated, it means a new market for many products. Likewise, if the valuable oil resources of Alaska are developed, it could mean that the American consumer of oil will be less dependent on the oil that comes from the troublesome Middle East. It could mean that tankers some day will go from Alaskan ports direct to some Asian countries.

Politically, Alaska will add a few electoral votes. There will be 98 United States senators instead of 96, and 436 members of the U.S. House of Representatives instead of 435.

Internationally, the addition of Alaska to the union should not mean much change. But there is perhaps a sentimental difference when one of our states becomes the border of the mainland of Russia, and it is no longer an area of just territorial or colonial status. Certainly there will be more of a national consciousness now that the United States is actually adjacent to Soviet Russia in the Siberian region.

The opponents of statehood argued that it would mean a radical change in the character of the union, for now there will be a big expanse of land between the other 48 states and the 49th. The same argument will be employed against admitting the islands of Hawaii, which are heavily populated with Americans of Japanese origin. The reason Alaska's friends have had a hard time in congress has been that to admit Alaska hitherto meant adding Hawaii, too. The proponents of Alaskan statehood managed to separate the two issues, and that's why Alaska got in.

It isn't so certain what Hawaii's fate will be. One group argues that there is too much communistic activity in Hawaii, and the other thinks a good way to get rid of it would be to admit Hawaii into the union.

Easy Travel

Looking northward, in between the 48 states and the 49th, there is the vast area of western Canada. A good highway goes from our Pacific northwest to Alaska, and the trip takes about seven days by automobile. Airline planes cover the distance in a few hours.

It's possible that there now will be a revival of talk about a merger with Canada. This has often been suggested in American history but has always met with disfavor by most of the people of Canada, whose basic ties are with Britain. Fundamentally Americans, like Britons and Canadians, will object to anything likely to deprive each of their national traditions. But with what has been happening in the world in recent years, especially in defense problems in the arctic, it is not unthinkable that Britain and Canada will be urged to join a 3-cornered union of some kind with the United States.

Menasha Votes to Back Regional Plan

Approval Contingent on Membership In 3-Year Study Remaining 100 Per Cent

Menasha — Support of the regional planning study was voted unanimously by the Menasha council Tuesday night on the condition the membership in the planning group remains 100 per cent.

The mayor was instructed to cast the city's vote on the 3-year study at a meeting July 10 at the Appleton council chambers.

Mayor R. G. DuCharme announced the reappointment of Mrs. Victor Fritz and Ferd Jung to the library board and the aldermen approved.

The board of public works was authorized to call for bids for the extension of sewers and water mains into the Peter Borenz plat across from the reserve armory on Third street.

The mayor reported that Borenz had signed waivers on a hearing on the extension and had agreed to pay the costs.

Construction of a basketball court at the Seventh street playground to replace the one located where the Red Owl is building its store was voted and the finance committee is to supply the funds.

The council also instructed the city crews or park board to remove the concrete slab that had been the floor of the Jensen stables at the playground site.

Lighting Study
The mayor appointed Ald. Gordon Schanke, chairman, Ald. Fred Rohloff and Ald. Walter Pawlowski as a committee to meet with the park board in a study of the lighting program at the ball park.

Aug. 4 was designated as the date for the return of bids to the board of public works on a new heating system, preferably gas, at the city garage and also on the repair of the walls of the city garage.

The planning commission reported it had approved applications for new home permits by Henry Plath at 410 Appleton street, Howard Rhode at 871 Roosevelt street, Paul Noffke and Son at 612, 616 and 620 Ninth street and Don Bungert at 828 Harding street.

It also reported it is taking under consideration for further conference with the owner the application of William Akstulewicz for rezoning from residential to local business his property at 406 DePere street and has returned for resubmission with changes the preliminary plat drawing of the Kostoff plat.

Extra Hydrants
The request of Fire Chief Edward Heim for hydrants on Pleasant lane and at Pleasant lane and Harding street was approved by the council and referred to the water and light commission for action.

Bartender licenses were granted to Mrs. Virginia Derks, 210 Water street; Harry Jaykowski, 501 Second street; Emil Nantke, 1081 First street; William L. Boelsen, Hotel Menasha; Arthur Kreckler, 542 First street; L. F. Graf, 2381 Main street; Tena Taft, route 2, Menasha; Frank Ryan, 332B Garfield avenue; Charles Dorman, 631½ Higgins avenue, Neenah; Lola M. DeBruin, 385½ Pine street; Charles J. Schultz, 912 Jefferson street; William J. Dorow, 24 Tayco street, and James Schilder, 910 Henry street, Neenah.

Farrell Again Heads Menasha School Board

Officers Reelected
By 4-3 Vote; Reject Driveway Repair Bid

Menasha — School board members by a 4 to 3 vote Tuesday afternoon reelected all three officers of the board. They are Robert Farrell as president, Ted R. Neely as vice president and Mrs. Fern Gaertner as secretary.

Votes were cast against the reelection by James Omachinski, Harry H. Kind and Mrs. Gaertner.

The presidency will be the second consecutive term for Farrell who has been on the board for five years after serving nine years as director of the old Maplewood school district board.

Only one bid, for $2,055, was received for the reconstruction of the Menasha High school driveway with 8 inches of crushed stone layer and a 2½ inch hot mix asphalt top. The bid, submitted by Badger Highway, was rejected because the board only had $1,515 in its budget for that work.

Proposes More Menasha Wards

Some Areas Getting Too Big, Aldermen Complain at Council

Menasha — A request for redistricting of the city or at least splitting up the Fourth ward into three wards was presented to the council Tuesday night by Ald. Edward Stinski and Walter Pawlowski who represent the mammoth ward.

"Ald. Pawlowski and I have a problem in representing the people in our ward," Ald. Stinski declared. "We would like the aldermen and mayor to add a few more wards, probably two more wards."

Ald. Pawlowski added that the council had been talking in the past about splitting some of the wards. "The Fourth ward is half the city of Menasha with this new territory that we are taking in. Maybe the Second and Third wards also should have something worked out."

Mayor R. G. DuCharme added that the Second ward also was quite large with about 1,300 voters and stated his belief that possibly the city should have 10 wards.

Ald. Stinski said he thought the ward creation should be done before budget time and he thought possible dividing lines for the Fourth ward could be DePere street and London street, particularly since the area east of London street was building up rapidly with new homes.

No action was taken other than the sharing of the sentiment that the council should seriously look into the matter of redistricting.

Program Set For Dedication Of Swim Pool

Draheim to Speak
At Ceremony; Meet,
Fireworks Follow

Menasha — Dedication of Menasha's half million dollar swimming pool will highlight the holiday observance in Menasha with the dedication and a swim meet plus fireworks set for Saturday evening.

The dedication will begin at 7 o'clock in the evening with the presentation of a flag by the Lenz-Gazek American Legion post and its auxiliary to the city. Arthur Gutzmann of the legion post will be in charge of the flag presentation and St. Mary's High school band under the direction of Bernard Kiel will play the national anthem.

City Atty William R. Giese will serve as master of ceremonies for the dedication and his welcome will be followed by two selections by the St. Mary High school band.

Speak Briefly
Taking turns at speaking briefly will be Mayor R. G. DuCharme, who will introduce the various city officials; Ralph Risley, chairman of the citizens advisory committee for the swimming pool, who will introduce the members of the citizens committee; Robert Schwartz, park board secretary, who will introduce the two spinet pianos but park board members, and Park took the higher bid because the Supl. Harry Kargus, and Ed-pianos were the same type purchased for each of the three board chairman who will introduce members of his board plus Jerry Smith, former recreation director, and Robert Vanevenhoven, present director.

The board voted to continue the same meeting days for the coming year. Seated as new members on the board were John Fitzpatrick and William A. Draheim of Neenah, Snyder who succeeded Harold Hlaberman and John Pawlowka and the fireworks will follow Draheim's talk.

Stinski, Mayor Clash At Council Session

Alderman Threatens to Resign if Asked; DuCharme Replies 'Tell Straight Story'

Menasha — In a momentary flareup that punctuated Tuesday night's council meeting Ald. Edward Stinski of the Fourth ward threatened to resign from the council if the mayor asked for his resignation.

The resignation threat broke out when Stinski referred to his being ruled out of order at a previous council meeting. Further words were exchanged between the two after the meeting ended.

Mayor R. G. DuCharme replied to Ald. Stinski that "no one has asked that but I hope you will tell a straight story."

The outburst came during discussion on a motion by Ald. Stinski to have minutes of all commission and board meetings in the hands of city officials within a certain period after the meeting, referring primarily to minutes of the Neenah-Menasha sewerage commission.

"I am not satisfied with the procedure going on," he said referring to the sewerage commission's minutes which he said he had never seen or heard read since coming back on the council in April.

Why No Information?
"I want to know why the commission hasn't given us any information on the workings of that million dollar plant. If the attorney wants to rule me out of order he can do so," he said, referring to the previous council meeting incident.

"Their minutes should show the workings of the plant. We should show the people what they are getting for their million dollars. If people stop me and ask me about the plant, I can only say that I don't know what's going on. They want to know. 'Doesn't the city office have any information?' I asked a question and was overruled. Why hasn't the commission brought in its minutes?" Ald. Stinski inquired.

Mayor DuCharme replied the council had asked for the minutes a number of times over the last several months and that

Funeral services will be at 9 o'clock Friday morning at St. Margaret's Catholic church. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery. Friends may call at the Kessler Funeral home after 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon and the rosary will be recited there at 7:30 Thursday evening.

'Pajama Game' in August

Teenage Theater Group in Oshkosh Knocks Delinquent Theory Sky-High

Oshkosh — Who says the younger generation is living in a teenage state of delinquency? That's not the way the story goes for some 150 teenagers in Oshkosh who belong to the Junior Theater of Oshkosh. For five years they have been giving a summer production — not easy ones, either — and their books are in the black with a neat net profit of $1,800 stashed away for next year's production.

With but three adults to guide them, these youngsters, all under 19, have produced four shows and are now working on a fifth. Their business books show they have spent $10,300 so far and have grossed $12,100 in house receipts.

'Pajama Game'
Their current production is the Broadway hit, "The Pajama Game," which will be presented at the Grand theater in Oshkosh, Aug. 7, 8 and 9.

It's the young people themselves who do all the work, from acting to building scenery. They design their sets, construct each piece, sell the tickets, handle publicity, make costumes and gather props for each show. The three adults supervise in the areas of musical direction, drama direction and finance.

In 1954, five young people concocted an idea of a summer production to provide recreation that could be a challenge to their fellow teenagers in Oshkosh and at the same time give enjoyment to the public.

It was an ambitious project, but with the help of a few generous adults it paid off in a program that has become rather unique for youngsters.

Junior Theater Born
The Junior Theater was born on a rainy night in August, 1954, when "Gramercy Ghost" was produced by the handful of youngsters that formed the nucleus of the drama group. The drama was a success, but the teenagers took a critical look at the program and came up with a new idea. Since Oshkosh has a going community theater group, they felt they had just accomplished more of the same, only with younger people. So they set their sights on bringing a different type of production to the public, leaving the straight drama to their elders.

Thus it was that the 1955 production was a musical comedy, Victor Herbert's "Sweethearts." The following summer they gave the Gershwin Pulitzer prize winner, "Of Thee I Sing," and last summer the famed "South Pacific."

The youngsters are aware that the entertainment they choose means a long, hard job to make it really good. But they aren't satisfied with ordinary productions — for two reasons.

They enjoy the difficulties and they are out to prove a well-earned point — theirs is not the so-called "beat generation."

Their membership has skyrocketed, but their aims are the same as when the Junior Theater began, "To provide a recreational and educational program for the youth of Oshkosh with consideration for the complete enjoyment of the public of the state."

In addition to these there are several minor parts, a large chorus and various members of the backstage, house and promotion crews.

Roy Kuhn Is Wed in Church Rites

Menasha — Roy L. Kuhn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kuhn, 650 DePere street, claimed Miss Janice Elaine Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Johnson, Tigerton, as his bride in Saturday ceremonies at St. Anthony Catholic church, Tigerton.

The Rev. William Schuh officiated at the 11:30 double ring rites and the bride's cousin, Miss Lucy Holmes, Tigerton, was the maid of honor. Bridal aide for her sister was Miss Linnea Johnson.

The bridegroom asked his brother Lyle Kuhn to be best man and Gerald Spang, Milwaukee, served as groomsmen. A 12:30 brunch for the family and wedding party at Tigerton Dells followed the rites and a reception was held from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the same place.

After a short honeymoon the couple will make their home in Milwaukee. Both young people are graduates of the University of Wisconsin and the bridegroom attended Menasha High school.

July 19 Rites Are Planned by Miss Borchardt

Neenah — Mr. and Mrs. Richard Borchardt, Mounted Route, Highway 114, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret Elaine, to Theodore L. Tilly, son of Mr. Wittenberg, will be the setting for the July 19 nuptial rites with the Rev. Markus Berndt, St. Paul Lutheran church, officiating.

Summer Sun Shines on New Cosmetic Choices

Neenah — Tan-tinged torsos, lips painted with new vivid shades of pink and orange, and hair dancing with the sun's highlights means that summer is in full swing. The season brings about many changes. A more carefree aura can be felt and the gaiety of summer is exhibited in many ways, one of them being the woman's choice of summer cosmetics.

Old winter shades of lipstick are abandoned for the more brilliant colors, light pink and orange being among the favorites, a survey shows. Because of the drying effect of the blazing sun, women prefer a lipstick with added moisture and creaminess. Summer clothes give the woman a chance to be a little daring and she chooses bright, vivacious colors and her cosmetics too, are a little more extravagant.

Sun's Seventh Heaven
The penetrating rays of the torrid sun are merciless but for many sun-worshippers summer is the season of seventh heaven. Hours in the sun turn once pallid skin into a golden bronze or copper red. Naturally, a darker shade of make-up is required to blend with the deepening color of the skin. Most women prefer the same texture of make-up whether it is loose powder or the

Christian Service Guild Lists Meeting Hostesses

Neenah — The Christian Service guild of the First Evangelical United Brethren church met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Ardis Krause, 223 1/2 Bond street and devotions were led by Mrs. Armin Weber, Jr., who spoke on "Devotions Relating to Christianity."

Plans were made for the Aug. 5 meeting which will be a picnic at the home of Mrs. Peterson.

Just prior to the summer, advertising geniuses set up snares in the form of cool appearing ads, making the woman feel she cannot face the hot summer without the displayed article of moisture cream, foot lotion, or some newly devised cosmetic made especially for the woman to enjoy during the summer.

Lighter Fragrances
Lighter fragrances usurp the place of perfumes used in the cooler months. 'Splash' colognes are purchased with eagerness as the woman thinks of the refreshing effect of a lavish application. The airy fragrance and bracing effect seems a necessity. Alcohol in the solutions brings about the cool feeling and dries the skin, relieving the heavy humidity's discomforts.

Radiant, gay shades are not only seen when it comes to clothes. Cosmetic sales people report that more hair color tinting applications are sold during the summer than in any other part of the year. There is also a greater demand for exotic eye shadow and mascara during the summer months to aid in playing up the loveliness already created by a soft, natural tan.

Emil Meyer, 121 Meade street. Devotions will be led by Mrs. Al De Roche.

In other business a list of hostesses and devotion leaders for the coming meetings was read and approved by the membership. In September, Miss Carol Peterson, 508 W. North Water street, will be hostess and Mrs. George Thompson will lead devotions.

Mrs. Ray Ohm, 437 S. Lake street, and Miss Marian Dress were named for the October meeting and in November Mrs. Willard Galau, route 1, Neenah, will be hostess while Miss Peterson leads devotions.

Miss Drees, 111 1/2 Harrison street, will have the December meeting at her home and Mrs. James Peterson will lead devotions. Hostess for the January meeting will be Mrs. Al De Roche, 733 S. Park street, and Mrs. James Parks will lead the topic while the February meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Weber, route 1, Neenah, with Mrs. Krause conducting the topic.

In March the guild will meet at the 113 Center street home of Mrs. Peterson with Mrs. Ohm leading devotions and Mrs. Thompson, 1031 Eighth street, Menasha, will be hostess for the April meeting while Mrs. Meyer will lead the study.

Include Cool, Crisp Salads In Summer Lunch Menus

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Summer weather often dulls the appetite, making otherwise tempting foods seem heavy and hot. Cool, crisp salads, made from a variety of ingredients, will answer some of the homemaker's summer menu problems.

Potato salad, a favorite dish of campers and for picnics, requires one quart of cold, cubed potatoes, one teaspoon salt, one fourth teaspoon paprika, dash of pepper and cayenne, two tablespoons vinegar, two tablespoons salad oil, one cup chopped celery, one cup sliced radishes or cucumber, one cup shredded green pepper, one fourth cup parsley bits, one half cup chopped sweet pickle, four chopped hard-cooked eggs and two cups cooked salad dressing.

Dressing
Marinate the cubed potatoes with seasoning, vinegar and salad oil for about an hour. Add other ingredients. Blend in salad dressing. The flavor is improved after standing except for shredded greens, which should be added just before serving.

A favorite salad dressing recipe of Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent, is made with one-half teaspoon mustard, two tablespoons sugar and four tablespoons flour. Mix the dry ingredients thoroughly. Beat two eggs and add the dry ingredients, mixing well. Add one and one-half cups of milk to the egg mixture, then one-half cup vinegar very slowly. Cook in a double boiler until the mixture thickens. Add two tablespoons butter and remove from the heat. Cool and store in a jar. Thin the dressing with fruit juice, vinegar or cream, depending on the salad.

Salad materials are tossed with two forks or a fork and spoon. The ingredients should be combined just before serving to insure crispness, says the home agent.

Fruits will discolor after peeling or cutting, unless covered with lemon or other fruit juice. Potatoes may be marinated by tossing them lightly in dressing and letting them stand for an hour before serving.

Neenah — Rain clouds forced golfers in the morning group of the women's division of Ridgeway Country club into the clubhouse for cards Tuesday morning. A luncheon was served at noon.

Good fellowship prizes went to Mrs. Les Sebor, Mrs. Don Smith, Mrs. John Bletzinger, Mrs. John Brann, Mrs. John Young, Mrs. Scott Fithian and Mrs. Joseph Suess. A flag tournament will be held next week with Mrs. William Herriott as chairman of the committee. She will be assisted by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Paul Stordock.

The evening group played poker golf with Mrs. Mary Jane Evans, Mrs. Herbert Pangel and Mrs. John Pawlowski tying in class E. Other winners were Mrs. Carl Koletzke, class D; Mrs. Richard Schreiter, class C, and Miss Helen Bell, classes A and B.

Mrs. Monty Luka won the prize for the blind hole and good fellowship prizes went to Mrs. Arthur Drees and Mrs. Ed Luka. Mrs. Erwin Alberts sunk an approach on No. 9 hole. Mrs. Ronald Merkley, chairman, Mrs. Fred Rasmussen and Mrs. Frank Gmeiner were the committee members.

Miss Mayron Mortensen will be chairman next week, when the women will play for best fairway shots in the different classes.

Showers Fete

Lorraine Lemke

Neenah — Miss Lorraine Lemke, daughter of Mrs. Carl Lemke, 220 Jackson street, has been the honored guest at two recent pre-nuptial showers. On June 25 Miss Nancy Hammel, 433 S. Lake street, entertained at a miscellaneous event attended by 20 guests.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Herbert Van Oudenhoven, Mrs. John Protheroe, Miss Kay Christensen, Miss Patricia Schulz and Miss Marilyn Matowitz. Sisters of the bride-elect, Mrs. Nick Nickolas and Mrs. Richard Hoffman, gave a miscellaneous shower June 19 at the Neenah Eagles hall. About 30 guests were present.

Miss Lemke will become the bride of Philip Lammeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lammeman, route 5, Oshkosh, in Saturday evening rites at Immanuel's Evangelical and Reformed church.

Auxiliary Has Prize Winners

Menasha — Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Frank Spilski, Mrs. Joe Magalski, Mrs. Ray Michalkiewicz, Mrs. Richard Kolasinski, Mrs. Mildred Pakalski and Mrs. Lucille Cheslock at the Tuesday afternoon picnic of the Falcons auxiliary at Falcons hall.

Picnic arrangements were made by Mrs. Joseph Kolasinski, chairman, Mrs. Richard Kolasinski, Mrs. Al Jakubek, Mrs. Ray Jakubek and Mrs. Spilski.

A covered dish supper will be held Aug. 4. Mrs. Julian Konetzke was named chairman.

Face Kaukauna Tonight; Can Deadlock for 1st Half Title

Menasha — The Macs have six players hitting over .300 going into this evening's Fox River Valley league game against Kaukauna at the Menasha ball park. Game time will be 8 o'clock.

John DeYoung tops the hitters, who have been at bat 30 or more times, with a .353 average on 12 hits in 34 trips to the plate.

Two others have bettered that mark but they have only 22 and 18 attempts. Dick Cornell has a .389 mark and Manager Edward "Butch" Konezke, who recently inserted himself into the starting lineup, has a .364 average.

Menasha — Menasha's Junior Legion picked up its fifth Fox River Valley Junior American Legion league victory in seven starts and its third straight win by downing Kaukauna 5-1 in a Tuesday twilight game at the Menasha ball park.

The Lenz-Gazecki post got a good pitching effort from Tom "Tinker" Robinson, who worked the first eight innings and Bill Steger, the pitcher in the ninth inning.

Robinson allowed only three hits in his eight inning stint. "He had a no-hitter going for four and two-thirds inning and put down in order the first 14 hitters to face him. Kaukauna's only run was unearned. Steger put the side out in order in the ninth.

Make Five Hits

Menasha only made five hits off the slants of Kaukauna's Tom Frank and it didn't get any after the fourth inning. Frank struck out three, walked five and hit three batters. The Menasha pitchers didn't walk anyone and Robinson had four strikeouts.

The Menashans took command in the first inning. With one out, Bill Gamme beat out a hit to the pitcher. Dave Robinson followed with his second homer in as many games and his fourth of the season. The ball sailed over the right field fence, just inside the foul line to give the hosts a 2-0 lead.

Schriver Doubles

Tom Remmel struck out but Don Kauter drew a walk, stole second and scored on Gary Schriver's double to left center. Schriver was out at third trying to stretch his hit.

Schriver led off the fourth with a double and Tom Robinson got a single in the frame but the runners were stranded on first and third. A walk and a hit batsman put runners on second and third in the fifth but again Frank pitched his way out of difficulty.

The Menasha entry made its final two runs without a hit in the sixth inning. Bill Bauer drew a walk and Dave Heller was hit by a pitched ball. Tom Robinson bunted the runners to second and third.

Bob Jensen hit an infield grounder and Bauer scored when the catcher dropped the throw in an attempt to get him at the plate. Heller took third and scored on Bill Gamme's infield out.

Kaukauna scored in the seventh when, with one out, Fred Steger singled, stole second and came in on Dave Robinson's throwing error.

Gary Senso's single and two errors loaded the bases in the eighth but Robinson worked his way out of trouble.

Menasha had three errors to Kaukauna's one. Menasha's defensive setup included a fine play of Busse's ground ball by Heller in the ninth.

Menasha will make its next start at Kimberly Saturday afternoon. Coach Bill Ciske also has given permission to his players to attend the Silver Sluggers school at Appleton.

Hits Making Tayco Street Truck Route

Aldermen Consider Widening Corner
Because of Tracks

Menasha — A proposal by Ald. John Klein, traffic and safety committee chairman, to have the engineer and city attorney take the necessary procedures for widening the south-east corner of Third and Tayco streets opened up discussion on whether Tayco street should be made a truck route.

Ald. Thomas Coughlin opposed making of Tayco street a truck route and was joined in the 8 to 2 vote on Klein's motion by Ald. Walter Pawlowski of the Fourth ward. Ald. Gordon Schanke, Coughlin's fellow alderman from the Second ward, declared he was not endorsing a truck route idea but thought the corner should be widened, the same sentiment expressed by Ald. Paul Laemmrich who seconded the motion.

Ald. Schanke wanted more study before there was talk of a truck route. He doubted if Tayco street was constructed well enough for a truck route.

Ald. Klein in making his suggestion to have the corner cut back commented that the railroad tracks cross the street intersection at an angle. He also foresaw additional traffic on Tayco street and said that widening it now might relieve some of the future congestion.

Cites Traffic Study
He cited the traffic study made by the American Automobile association and police department which contained the suggestion for a widened corner and a truck route on Tayco and Third streets. It also recommended removal of the stop sign at Second and Tayco streets.

Ald. Ed Stinski thought more study was needed and called the railroad crossing a bad situation, particularly with the larger trucks being used. He suggested acquiring the corner property to make a better turn at the corner.

Ald. Coughlin called attention to the playgrounds at Second and Tayco streets and the Trinity Lutheran church school on Tayco street in opposing a

Arm Injury to Fellow Workman Led To Start of Theda Clark Hospital

Neenah — A serious arm injury to a fellow worker back a half century ago made the late C. B. Clark, then a young man recently graduated from Yale university, realize the need of a hospital in the Twin Cities.

The workman underwent major surgery on the examining table at a physician's office and had to remain for several days in a room adjoining the physician's office, cared for by relatives and friends, among them being Clark.

Clark's sister, Theda Clark Peters, had left a bequest of $96,000 and in a letter to her brother, asked that it be used for community service. According to this month's issue of the "Theda Clark Bulletin" of Theda Clark Memorial hospital, she, during her lifetime, had expressed a wish to build and endow a hospital in Neenah.

But she died before her wish could be fulfilled. Several years passed before the accident which brought home to Clark truck route for Tayco street. He cited the city's being without a traffic death in six or seven years and also thought the road was not built for truck traffic.

The reply of Ald. Klein was that there are trucks going past several other schools in the city and that the recommendation was not part of a hasty study. Ald. Stinski wondered about congestion at the Brin corner and whether a truck wanting to go straight ahead and north on Tayco would prevent other cars from turning right on Main street. Klein replied that matter was studied by the police department which had taken measurements and thought it would work all right.

Two Daughters Share Estate of Neenah Woman

Grace Sensenbrenner Will Admitted to Probate by Judge

Oshkosh — The two daughters of the late Mrs. Grace Kerwin Sensenbrenner of Neenah, who died May 9, will share the bulk of her estate, according to provisions of her will filed Tuesday with County Judge Herbert J. Mueller.

Mrs. Sensenbrenner, daughter of a late supreme court chief justice, left an estate estimated at $150,000 in personal property and $15,000 in real estate.

The two daughters are Helen Mary McMurtrie of Glenview, Ill., and Gretchen S. Carney of Milwaukee. She provided that each daughter shall have a life estate interest in equal halves of her shares of stock in Riverside Paper corporation of Appleton. Her two grandchildren, Michael K. Carney of Providence, R.I., and Robert McShane Carney of Charlottesville, Va., will be recipients of the shares of each daughter as remaindermen.

She provided that her son, F. James Sensenbrenner of Milwaukee, shall get $1,000 and that Earl Denhart of Neenah shall get $500 from the estate. The rest of the estate shall go in equal shares to her two daughters.

Mrs. Hopfensperger Will
The will of the late Mrs. E. J. Hopfensperger of Neenah, wife of the president of the Hopfensperger Brothers wholesale meat firm, also was admitted to probate Tuesday along with a petition that listed her personal property as being undetermined and her real estate as being jointly owned.

She provided that her estate shall go to her daughter, Mary Lieb of Neenah. Mrs. Hopfensperger died June 6.

The $49,512 estate of the late William A. Ritchie of Menasha, $23,877 and Immanuel's Evangelical and Reformed church of Neenah which will get $100.

the first patient was admitted the following day. The 3-story red brick structure had 25 beds and recorded its first birth Nov. 1, 1909.

Of the $96,000 bequest from Mrs. Theda Clark Peters, $36,000 was set aside as an endowment fund, the income from which would help defray some of the operating expenses. The family of Mrs. Peters added another $30,000 to help complete the hospital building which ran over the $50,000 balance from her bequest. Total cost of the hospital that year came to $94,000, the hospital bulletin points out.

A school of nursing was organized in 1912 by Miss Amelia Ritchie, who was administrator of the hospital then. Students were admitted annually until 1919 when the school was closed temporarily. It was reorganized in 1922 and graduated its last class in 1938, having trained 127 nurses during its existence.

Menashan Gets Patent for New Desk Design

Menasha — A horizontal opening desk designed by Matthew A. Stuck of Menasha has been granted a patent by the United States patent office. These desks are available in different sizes and designs.

The conventional desk has a fixed flat top surface with an array of drawers on both sides of the central open space for the legs of the user. For installations such as in schools, the desk often has a hinged top so that it may be swung upward to expose a receptacle portion which holds books and supplies.

The desk devised by Stuck has a flat top which may be moved to expose the interior of a receptacle. Construction is such that the desk top is always horizontal and may be moved without disturbing the articles on it.

He has assigned 25 per cent of the patent to Albert T. Stuck, also of Menasha. The inventor is president of Modern Manufacturing company of Menasha, builders of school desks.

Also assigned was the $83,461 estate of the late Robert Eisenach of the town of Menasha who died June 5, 1957. Sharing in his estate and the amounts of their shares are two sisters and a brother, Edith Smith of Detroit, Mich., Otto Eisenach of Chicago and Fred Peters of route 2, Neenah, who will get $19,827 each, another brother, Charles. Neenah, who will get $23,877 and Immanuel's Evangelical and Reformed church of Neenah which will get $100.

Stinski Offers To Resign if Mayor Prefers

the minutes come in several months apart and then several meetings at a time. He said he doubted if the minutes would show what the alderman was asking about and added that he himself would go to the sewerage disposal plant about three times a week to check on progress.

"I hope you have had your say," the mayor told the Fourth ward alderman. "You have been going around saying you don't have your say."

It was at this point that Ald. Stinski stormed that "if you want me to resign, I will do so more publicity to the operation at the next meeting, July 23, 1958 Appleton Post-Crescent 26

15." The mayor then said he was not asking for any resignation but wanted the alderman "to tell a straight story."

Conversation then returned to the matter of the commission's minutes. Stinski's motion calling for the minutes within a certain period received a second from Ald. Walter Pawlowski who commented that all the other board and commissions were complying with that request.

It was brought out that both the Neenah and Menasha councils have similar rules calling for minutes within a certain time. The mayor added the sewerage commission contends it cannot turn in its meetings that soon because it must first approve of those minutes at its meeting the following month.

Ald. Gordon Schanke urged the commission get together with the newspapers and give

Librarian at Oshkosh Resigns After 29 Years

Oshkosh — The resignation of Miss Natalie Huhn, head of the Oshkosh public library since September, 1928, has been announced. She will continue until Aug. 1.

A native of Oshkosh, Miss Huhn is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin library

Use Caution, Common Sense During First Time Out in Sun

BY CARL N. NEUPERT, M.D.
State Health Officer

Centuries ago our pagan ancestors greeted the arrival of summer with midnight bonfires and other strange rituals. Today many of us welcome the summer solstice with a determination to acquire that symbol of fitness — a healthy coat of tan. There's little doubt that exposure to health-giving sunlight can be greatly beneficial to all of us. But it can also be quite harmful, and over-exposure can be downright dangerous.

Severe sunburn is likely to cause dizziness, headaches, fever, and vomiting—as well as having serious effects on the skin. For these reasons it's wise to use caution and common sense on that first day at the beach or during that first day's work in the fields or garden.

For the average person 20 minutes exposure is the maximum limit of safety on the first day. This period should be much less for children or persons with fair skins. The length of subsequent exposure should be increased gradually.

Time of Day

The time of day, too, is another important factor to remember in avoiding sunburn. Since the noonday sun is particularly strong, it is much safer to start getting that early summer tan in the late afternoon when the sun's rays are less intense.

Areas on or near the water also are dangerous because of the reflection from the sand and water surfaces. And persons often get burned as severely on cloudy or hazy days as on the bright ones.

You can provide yourself some protection by wearing sunglasses and using tanning preparations. The latter, however, contrary to advertising claims, afford only partial protection from burning. All told, a person's best defense is his own caution—with sunburn with other matters of personal health.

Summer sunlight certainly is beneficial. Old Sol can provide us with pleasure and relaxation and a feeling of rejuvenation for our tired bodies. But he can also make us miserable and cause illness and even death.

Flustered Chairman Calls Nixon President

Washington — (AP) — Vice president Nixon Monday came to the rescue of a flustered chairman, Mrs. Rollwage Collier, who began to introduce him as president of the United States and then hastily corrected herself.

Nixon told the audience amid laughter at a luncheon in honor of Spyros P. Skouras, president of Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation: "It's appropriate to refer to introduced Mrs. Nixon as 'the vice president as president' because he is president of the Senate."

He followed up with a story about U. S. Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest, a guest at the luncheon. He said she had once introduced Mrs. Nixon as "the next wife of the vice president."

USDA Reports Drop In June Farm Prices

3½ Pct. Drop Ends 6-Month Rise; Costs to Farmers Fall Less Than 1 Pct.

Washington — (AP) — The agriculture department has reported that farm product prices declined about 3½ per cent during the month ended June 15.

This decline ended a 6-month upturn. Prices, nevertheless, remained 5 per cent above levels of a year earlier.

The downturn reflected largely declines in prices for vegetables, wheat, cattle and potatoes.

The only significant offsetting increases were for new crop peaches that started moving to market in June, and for apples.

Prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in production and in family living declined about one-third of 1 per cent during the month. This was the first such drop since July 1937.

Farm prices as a whole in mid-June were put at 84 per cent of parity compared with 86 per cent in mid-May, 82 per cent a year ago and the record of 123 per cent set in October, 1946.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices charged them.

Index of Prices

Prices received by farmers in mid-June were reported at 255 per cent of the 1910-14 base average compared with 264 per cent in mid-May, 243 per cent in mid-June last year and the record of 313 per cent set in February, 1951.

Prices paid by farmers in mid-June were reported at 305 per cent of the 1910-14 base average compared with 306 per cent in mid-May, which incidentally was the record high, and 296 per cent in mid-June last year.

Prices of meat animals as a whole declined for the first time in seven months largely on the basis of lower prices for beef cattle, calves and sheep.

Can Do Anything

Mules, Horses Replaced by Jeeps In Armies, on Farms Over World

Washington — As Dobbins' and mules amble slowly out to pasture, many of their stalls are being taken over by that noble mount—the jeep.

In less than two decades the number of horses and mules on American farms has declined from about 14,500,000 to 3,600,000. And the army mule has faded away.

The jeep, which has been steadily multiplying, didn't even exist two decades ago. Then World War II came, and suddenly deserts, jungles, and mountains were bouncing with a new breed of mechanical mule. In peacetime it has been seen as far afield as Lhasa, Tibet, but adapts easily to life on the farm.

Jeep fanciers say it can plow, terrace land, dig post holes, grind corn, help herd cattle on ranches, take the family to town for shopping—and do just about anything but mind the baby.

Not Quite Like a Camel There are reports that roadless vehicles are making inroads in the land of the camel, the National Geographic society observes. This is a remarkable change about, skeptics declare, for they can't be milked. Nor can they be eaten or turned into tents when retired.

But the jeep species has taken firm root abroad. Spanking-new vehicles manufactured under the trade name Jeep roll from plants in Argentina, Brazil, Turkey, Holland, France, Japan, and Canada.

Britain has its Land-Rover. Germans produce the Unimog. Italy came up with La Cam-pagnola (Open Country). A French car maker has developed a bantam type intended to replace the peasant's cart and horse.

The family of do-anything, go-anywhere vehicles is growing in the United States, too. By the end of 1957 about 1,300,000 Jeeps—military and civilian—had been produced in several models. The Mechanical Mule, a young relative that weighs only 900 pounds but can carry a payload of 1,000, is made by the same firm. Another manufacturer puts out the Mighty Mite.

Though Jeep, capitalized, is a registered trade-name, the word "jeep" has taken its place in the Merriam-Webster dictionary as meaning a "diminutive multipurpose cross-country vehicle."

GI and the Jeep No one knows who gave the jeep its name. The versatile little vehicle with 4-wheel drive was developed for a war job chiefly by Willys-Overland, its producer, and American Bantam and Ford. While in the testing stage it got to be known as a "jeep." This apparently came from the letters GP (General Purpose) stamped on its back or through association with the noise "jeep" made by a wonder-working animal in the Popeye comic strip.

The beloved jeep went wherever the American army did. It became, to the GI, what Traveler was to Robert E. Lee and a camel to T. E. Lawrence. Some GIs became so fond of their mounts, according to rumor, that at war's end they mailed them home—piece by piece.

Countless military jeeps never got rotated home, officially or otherwise. In Manila thousands of surplus jeeps were drafted into taxicab service and labeled Jeepneys. They're still going strong. At the turn of the 1950's New Guinea called itself the "land of the dying jeep" because so many were collapsing, beyond repair, without hope of replacement.

At home the jeep's future, on farm or military post, looks ever brighter. The Army is trying to see if it can make a jeep fly.

Fertility Key To Good Crop

Large Portions of Potash Needed to Maintain Alfalfa

Most alfalfa stands fade out from lack of fertility. Alfalfa has a great need for large amounts of potash. If this element becomes lacking, the alfalfa plant is weakened and the grasses take over.

Other causes for reduced stands are winter killing and improper management. An annual shot of potash keeps the whole alfalfa plant going strong. This practice promotes good root growth as well as top growth.

To maintain good stands of alfalfa for a longer period, top dress with fertilizers rich in potash. The best time to do this job is immediately after harvesting the first crop. Top dressing may also be done in earlier spring or after the second crop is removed.

Good Application

A good application would be 200 pounds of 0-0-60 or 400 pounds of 0-10-30. The University of Wisconsin experiments have shown that with an annual top-dressing of 200 pounds of 0-0-60, alfalfa fields have kept yielding well into their tenth year. Last year some alfalfa plants were dug out of test plots after ten years of growth to see what a good fertilization program had done for root growth. The roots and crowns as well as the yield, showed the benefits of the fertilizer.

Plants from plots which had an annual top-dressing of 200 pounds of 0-0-60 had massive crowns and well developed roots. These plots yielded a total of three and one-third tons per acre per year since the first crop was taken off in 1948. Plants from plots that were not top-dressed or which received only 100 pounds of 0-0-60 yearly, had smaller crowns and poorer roots.

With the 100 pound potash application per year, the yield was 2.8 tons per acre per year. Plots which were not top-dressed yielded only 1.7 tons per acre per year during the ten year period.

Results of Tests

The results of these tests prove the value of potash fertilizer for alfalfa growth. It is important to keep the alfalfa plant growing well even if it will be plowed down.

Alfalfa roots and top growth have a high value for soil fertility and building organic matter content. Farmers who have plowed down a good growth of alfalfa have found that less nitrogen fertilizer is needed the following year when corn is raised.

If an annual top-dressing of potash program is followed along with good management and proper varieties, alfalfa fields can be plowed down as the farmer wants to rather than when he needs to.

Proper Spray Can Control Field Weeds

County Agent Tells Best, Safest Ways To Eliminate Pest

By JOHN E. POWERS
Outagamie County Agricultural Agent

Broad-leaved weeds can be effectively and economically controlled in small grain. Smartweed, lambs quarters, mustard and many other broad-leaved weeds reduce grain yields. Weeds also lower the quality and make harvesting a problem. This situation can be eliminated by proper spraying. Grain fields should be checked early to determine whether a weed problem is developing. It is best and safest to spray the grain when it is eight to 14 inches high. At this stage, the weeds are also easier to kill because they are smaller. Apply MCP Amine or 2,4-D Amine in five or more gallons of water per acre.

If the grain is seeded down with legumes, use one-fourth pound of the acid equivalent per acre. MCP Amine is the safer of the two materials. Legumes are more tolerant to it than 2,4-D.

Increase Amount
If the grain has not been seeded down with legumes, the amount of material can be increased to one-half pound acid equivalent per acre. In special areas where thistles are troublesome, they can be controlled by using one pound of acid equivalent MCP Amine per acre.

Corn can be treated after it has begun growth. The material recommended is 2,4-D Amine. Good control of broad-leaved weeds can be expected for up to six weeks. This treatment will not be as effective on annual grasses as will the pre-emergence treatments. Apply 2,4-D Amine in five or more gallons of water per acre. Use one-half pound acid equivalent per acre. This should be done when the corn is in the four to eight inch stage of growth. This measurement is made as the leaf is extended. As the corn progresses beyond the eight inch stage, it becomes necessary to use drop nozzles and spray at the base of the corn rather than a broadcast treatment. In these later stages the corn become very susceptible to 2,4-D and many of the plants will be injured. When the drop nozzles are used, one-fourth pound per acre of 2,4-D acid equivalent is recommended.

Historymobile Appears in Iola

Iola — The Wisconsin Historical society's 1958 Historymobile is in Iola today, sponsored by the local historical society. It will be open from 9 o'clock this morning to 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The 1958 historical exhibition, entitled "Peoples of Wisconsin," illustrates how and why early settlers came and where they settled, and describes their contributions to today's culture through artifacts, models, photographs, maps and illustrations. Several floor-to-ceiling cases are featured in the enlarged mobile unit.

Man Fined for Drunk, Disorderly Conduct

Chilton — Willard Bowe, 29, Cascade, pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct when he appeared before Wilbur R. Winch, justice of the peace, and was fined $10 and costs.

Paul Dittman, Outagamie county sales and service technician for Badger Breeders cooperative of Shawano, received national recognition from the National Association of Artificial Breeders as a technician who has inseminated a total of 35,000 first service cows. He qualified by inseminating 37,446 first service cows out of 62,733 total inseminations. He started with Badger Breeders on Aug. 16, 1945.

Chilton Man Makes First Gully Control

Chilton — The first gully control structure in Calumet county has been completed by Lloyd Huebschmann, route 3, Chilton. Huebschmann has been a member of the Calumet county soil conservation district for the last eight years.

The foundation of the toe wall, as the gully control structure is called, is made of concrete. The notch and walls are concrete blocks.

Alphonse Reiser, Chilton, has completed construction of a 2,000-foot waterway, according to Bruno Zucolo soil conservationist.

Many farms in the Calumet district have been visited in recent weeks by Bob Patzer, soil scientist with the U.S. Soil Conservation service. Plans are being made on these farms for a complete soil conservation program.

The soil survey is the first step in the soil conservation plan. It includes the soil type, slope and degree of erosion, which are made for every acre on the farm. The information is then used to work out rotation and land use when setting up the soil program.

Among the farms which have been soil mapped this year are Henry Horst, Charlestown; Roger Thielmann, Brothertown; Isadore Marx, Harrison; Delmar Gerhart, Brothertown; Fred Kohn, Stockbridge; Norbert Engel, New Holstein; Lawrence Kauer, Harrison; Herman Nett, Woodville; Jim VanDaalwyk, Chilton; Denver Heller, Chilton; and John P. Shaver, New Holstein.

More Youngsters Join 4-H Clubs

Madison — Frank Campbell, state 4-H club leader, reported that enrollment in the club now totals 49,000 in Wisconsin, an increase of 2,519 from the 1957 figure.

Campbell said at the annual 1958 Club week that there now are 2,296 clubs in the state.

Counties with biggest proportionate 4-H increase this year are Lincoln, Rusk, Green, St. Croix, Eau Claire and Oneida.

Corky Ringspot Threatens to Invade State

Soil Virus Found In Florida Being Studied at UW

A potato tuber disease known as corky ringspot, first reported in northern Florida in 1946, has been identified by University of Wisconsin scientists as a soil-borne virus disease. It is a potential danger to potato growers everywhere. The corky ringspot disease is the first soil-borne virus disease of potatoes found in the United States, although a related soil virus has for years plagued potato growers in Europe. In this country, it has been found definitely only in Florida, but Wisconsin plant pathologists are checking a similar type of internal browning of potato tubers found in Indiana, and Washington to see if it is caused by the same virus.

Should the disease appear in Wisconsin, seed potatoes from infected fields could not be certified, point out R. H. Larson and C. H. Walkinshaw, who are doing the research on the disease. This possibility has spurred Wisconsin research, since plant diseases recognize no state boundaries.

Florida Infection
Florida Sebago potatoes infected with the virus show marked brown, slightly sunken rings or line patterns, and shallow, irregular corky depressions, with brown dead tissue underneath these outside features.

The Wisconsin research men have used Florida potatoes and soils in their study of the disease — taking care, of course, to keep it from spreading out of the laboratories and isolated research plots. Peppers and tobacco, as well as potatoes, are infected with the virus when these plants are grown in virus infected soils brought in from diseased potato fields in Florida.

A thorough knowledge of this soil-borne virus disease will help in developing control methods or resistant potato varieties, say the specialists.

America's Lightest Running Chopper

CASE 200 Forage Harvester

- Positive feed, uniform cut
- Heavy, 6-knife cutter wheel
- Two-speed belt drive with over-running clutch
- Four quick-change harvest heads
- Handy adjustable levers
- Simple, rugged design
- Swinging drawbar
- Adjustable hitch
- Swivel delivery pipe

You can chop any crop with minimum power and maximum speed with the new Case 221 forage harvester. The heavy, 6-knife cutter wheel runs easily on roller bearings. You chop a full range of cutting lengths by varying feeding speed, removing 3 or 4 knives, or changing cutter speeds. Positive feed is assured by a power-driven, saw-toothed drum that holds the crop down firmly on the conveyor, helps pull it into the roomy throat. Cut is close, clean and uniform because extra long guides keep knives rigid, and because knives and shear plate adjust easily for close tolerance. Controls are handy. You can stop, reverse and start the feed, load to rear or side, fill the box level — all without leaving the tractor seat!

Seymour FFA Chapter Has Experiment Plots

Freshmen Conduct Exhaustive Study Of Grain Growth

BY DOROTHY HUETTL

Seymour — One of the programs being carried on by the freshmen Future Farmers of America members is the study of plant growth and corn production.

They start from the beginning by taking apart the corn seed itself and learning the parts. The next step is germination of the seed, then development of the plant including the plant needs during the growth and the source of its nutrients.

Included in the study is the culture of the corn plant: seed selection, seed bed preparation, planting dates, cultivation practices and weed and insect control in the corn field. The unit is concluded by a study of corn harvesting and storage.

To put into practice these book learned procedures, the Seymour FFA freshmen have established two corn demonstration plots to show what effect different practices have on the corn crop.

Weed Control
One plot located at Ronald Mariens was planted on May 17. Various methods of chemical weed control were tried. The plot was sprayed at planting time, half with 2-4D and the other half with Simazin. The spray was applied in a 10-inch band on the row only. The boys hope this will show a comparison of the action of the two chemicals as well as comparing it to corn with no treatment.

Plant population is also a factor in determining yield and on this plot two different rates of planting were used. Part of the plot has a population of 14-16,000 per acre and the other has 18-20,000 plants per acre.

The boys applied fertilizer on the basis of a soil test they ran on the plot. A good covering of manure was applied and 5-20-20 at the rate of 160 pounds per acre was applied as a starter at planting time. The boys also side dressed this plot with nitrogen in late June.

Different Treatment
The other plot out at John Brownsons was treated a little different. For weed control 2-4D was applied after planting. For fertility, again on the basis of a soil test, 600 pounds of 12-12-12 was broadcast and worked in along with a good covering of barnyard manure and 5-20-20 was used in the row as a starter at planting time.

The payoff will come this fall when the boys take yield tests to determine the results of the various practices.

The seed chemicals and fertilizer used on these test plots were donated by various business firms in the community handling these particular products.

Harold Tech and Oliver Lerum are the two agriculture instructors working with the boys.

Edward Lodes, 17, route 1, Chilton, had his driver's license revoked for 90 days and paid court costs for reckless driving in Chilton.

Robert Kauth, 19, 1800 S. Kernan avenue, Appleton, was fined $25 for doing damage to private property and leaving the scene of an accident without reporting to authorities.

James Lewis, 19, 1518 W. Spring street, Appleton, was assessed $10 for speeding at night.

Tree Growers Warned to Look For Insects

Should Watch for 5 Common Types, Seek Preventative Action

Waupaca — County Forester Dale Tubbs issued a warning today to tree growers to inspect their plantations for five common infestations and to take protective measures if found. The European pine shoot moth has emerged in most areas and affects Scotch, mugho and Norway pines principally. Emergence of the smaller European Elm bark beetles has been slow and steady, according to Tubbs. Surveys show they are attempting to enter dead or dying elm wood for breeding purposes.

If observed, the elm wood should be destroyed to prevent beetle breeding. Also, the Dutch elm disease laboratory reports no new cases this week and the state total remains at three trees; these are in Rock, Waukesha and Milwaukee counties. The sawfly larvae has been observed defoliating jackpine while the pine spittlebug is common among jack and Scotch pine stands.

Tubbs also reports that the maple bladder-gall mites have caused galls on silver maple leaves to become numerous in some sections of the state, but the galls are few and far between in Waupaca county.

He advises tree growers to check plantations periodically for any blight or disease and seek preventative action at the forester's office in the Waupaca county court house.

Members of the Dairy Cattle judging team who represented Calumet county at the state 4-H Club week were, from the right, Roman Geiser, Marlene Geiser, Margie Geiser, and Roger Hacker. Television Actor Loses Accident Damage Suit

Los Angeles —(P)— Jay Silverheels, television's Tonto in the Lone Ranger series, must pay $625 to a woman who sued him for $25,000 following an auto accident.

Mrs. Eileen Kerr said she was a passenger in a car crowded off the road by Silverheels' car in October 1955.

Mrs. Ethel Tsolakos, driver of the auto, also asked $25,000, but was denied damages. Silverheels denied negligence. The judgment was returned against him Monday in superior court.

Sues Goldwyn for Additional Money

Los Angeles —(P)— Director William Wyler is asking more money for his work on "The Best Years of Our Lives" — a movie now 11 years old.

Wyler filed suit Monday seeking $408,356 from producer Sam Goldwyn and asking for an accounting of the profits of the picture of which he is supposed to get 20 per cent.

Goldwyn, apprised of the action, said Wyler already had received $1,400,000. Goldwyn added:

"This is a free country, and if Willy feels that he has been mistreated by being paid such a 'paltry' sum as $1,400,000 for directing that picture, he is certainly entitled to the great American privilege of going to court."

Pascual's Home Run in 9th
Topples Green Bay, 9 to 8

League's Batting Leader Fails
Jays' Bid for Comeback Win;
Dantoni and Howard Also Homer

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Green Bay's Blue Jays left Goodland field Tuesday night convinced that the only safe Pascual is a banished Pascual.

Sunday night, the Fox Cities' Carlos Pascual, currently the league's batting boss, was ejected early in the game for fighting. Monday night, as a result of the incident, "Potato" sat it out except for a pinch-batting appearance. The Foxes lost both games.

Pascual was back on full-time duty with his smoking warclub Tuesday night, and it was his 1-out, bases-empty homer in the ninth inning that toppled the Jays, 9-8.

Mashed Bluejay Bid

"Potato" mashed Green Bay's bid for a rousing comeback win with an elephant-sized blast over the left-center field wall. The homer, Pascual's eleventh of the season, capped a 3-for-5 night and hoisted his sizzling average to .376.

The win, first of the second-half schedule for the Foxes, goes to lefty Don Cameron, who tightrope-walked his way expertly through a breathtaking two-thirds inning of relief. The Foxes split their 4-game home stand with the Jays, and Cameron carded both wins as a bullpener.

The Foxes have parted company with the Jays after playing them eight consecutive times in the last week. The Fox Cities club begins its initial second-round road tour at Burlington tonight, with right-hander Gary Mitchell getting the pitching nod from Pilot Pete Suder.

Precarious 8-7 Lead

Suder's "against-the-grain" masterminding and Cameron's clutch pitching saved the night for the Foxes in the top half of the ninth when the situation seemed destined to get completely out of hand.

The Foxes, who earlier had held juicy leads of 6-0 and 8-3, entered the ninth with a precarious 8-7 advantage. Ozzie Walker opened with a single to center off Earl Furrow, second Foxes' pitcher. On one of the return throws to the pitcher's mound, catcher "Chick" Payne fired the ball into center field

After Wallace had taken second on a wild pitch, Frank Howard was walked purposely. Terry Robertson filed to center, but Wallace took the lead run to third after the catch. Seider called in Cameron to pitch to left-handed hitting Andy VanderVelde. Andy hit a hot grounder between first and second that hit Howard. He got a base hit, but Howard was automatically out and the man on third was unable to advance.

With men on first and third, Suder defied "normal" strategy and ordered an intentional walk for Nate Smith which would fill the bases, including the "keystone" vacancy. Suder was prompted to forsake SOP because Smith had already cracked two doubles and two

Giardello Petitions
For Reversal of Loss to Giambra

San Francisco —(AP)— "It is our feeling that an honest mistake was made further, the very noticeable reaction of the fans who saw the match was additional confirmation that Giardello was really the winner."

"We therefore petition your honorable commission to rectify this mistake by a reversal of the decision."

These legalistic words went Tuesday from Joey Giardello and his manager Tony Ferrante to the California Athletic Commission.

Giardello and his manager contended the adverse call knocked the No. 2 middleweight contender out of a title match with "Sugar" Ray Robinson.

Cubs Outslug Giants
To Gain Fourth Place

By The Associated Press

Chicago's unique baseball day of having both the Sox and Cubs playing at home on one date proved to be a victorious one Tuesday.

The Cubs, led by Ernie Banks and Tony Taylor, defeated the San Francisco Giants, 9-5, while the Sox edged Cleveland, 5-4, in 11 innings.

Banks collected his nineteenth and twentieth homers and Taylor smashed his second and third of the season. Taylor, a .214 hitter, also doubled to touch off a 3-run rally in the eighth inning which assured the Cubs of their triumph.

Move Into Fourth

The victory hoisted the Cubs to fourth place in the National league. 61 games behind league leading Milwaukee and only three games behind second place St. Louis, which lost, 9-3, to Los Angeles.

Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh, 4-2.

Young Moe Drabowsky (7-7) won his third in a row for the Cubs, although needing relief. The Cubs chased Johnny Antonelli (8-6) in the second. Daryl Spencer, Willie Mays, Ray Jablonski and Bob Schmidt homered for the Giants.

Larker Homers Twice

Rookie Norm Larker hit a pair of home runs, his first in the majors, also doubled and drove in four runs for the Dodgers, who had lost three in a row. Jim Brosnan (7-6) lost it while southpaw Sandy Koufax (7-3) won his fourth in a row.

Harry Anderson drove in three runs with his tenth homer and a single for the Phils, who moved to sixth place as the Pirates hit seventh in a 10-

Sommers Plans to Enrol at Oshkosh

New Giant Farm Player Will Continue Studies in Off-Season

Dennis Sommers, the third Fox Cities area player to sign a pro baseball contract in the last month, ranks as one of the best and most versatile athletes in Hortonville High school history.

Sommers is a 12-letterman—having earned four awards apiece in baseball, basketball and football.

This weekend the 17-year-old athlete leaves to join a San Francisco farm club, Michigan City, Ind., of the Class D Midwest league. (Among the circuit's other entries are Kokomo, Ind., and Decatur and Dubuque in Iowa).

The Giants Monday night signed Sommers to a Phoenix Pacific Coast league contract. He reports to Phoenix for spring training in 1959.

Will Attend Oshkosh

Menasha's Ron Dibelius and Appleton's Dave Trinnor signed pro pacts with Washington earlier this season.

Sommers plans to attend Wisconsin State college, Oshkosh, this fall. He will attend the first semester only since he's due in spring camp next March 1. He hopes to work on his advanced education a semester at a time while he's in pro ball.

He will play basketball at Oshkosh, but the Giants have instructed him not to play football.

Sommers battled .475 as a member of the 1958 Hortonville High school team which won the Little Nine conference co-championship and reached the sectional tournament finals. He also played third base on the Polar Bear teams that won the 1956 and '57 conference titles. The team also reached the '57 sectional finals.

State Title Team

Sommers was a member of the 1956 New London American Legion Junior team that won the state championship. At the time he was voted the outstanding Legion player in the state. Last year, he again played with the New London Legion entry that advanced to the state tourney.

This year, Sommers has played with the Hortonville club in the Badger Amateur Baseball association.

In football, Sommers was quarterback and captain of both the Hortonville's unbeaten champions in '56 and co-champions in '57. He was named the most valuable football player on the team last fall.

In basketball, Sommers was captain and played guard on the 1956-7 and 1957-8 Little Nine champions. Both years, the Polar Bears won district titles and reached the sectional finals. The high-scoring Sommers was one of the key figures in the Polar Bears' tournament upset of Appleton last March.

Sommers was class president his freshman and senior years.

The Giants scouted Sommers several times, including in this spring's tournament games. They invited him for two days of workouts at Michigan City last week. Several officials, including Carl Hubbell were impressed by the youth's ability and potential.

Several other major league clubs, including the Braves and Washington, had shown an interest in Sommers.

Ned Garver Making Strong Bid for 'Comeback' Honors

Detroit —(AP)— Making your "Comeback of the Year" awards early? Don't overlook Ned Garver.

When people ask, "What's keeping those Kansas City Athletics up there?" one of the biggest answers is the crafty right-hander who has surprised even himself with eight victories in 12 decisions.

The 32-year-old breaking-ball artist whipped the Detroit Tigers, 5-1, Tuesday night. He missed his fourth shutout by the margin of pinch hitter Bob Hazle's eighth-inning home run.

The Tigers thought Garver was washed up in the winter of 1956 and traded him to the Athletics in an 8-player deal that has backfired. The four players Nevada, Sacramento State and dealt off by the A's never panned out in Detroit and the Ti-

Althea Gibson
Last American
In 'Wimbledon'

Gains Semi-Finals;
Rose Eliminates
Barry MacKay

Wimbledon, England —(AP)— Defending Champion Althea Gibson of New York gained the women's semifinals in the Wimbledon tennis championships today but the last remaining American in the men's division, Barry MacKay, was ousted in straight sets.

Miss Gibson had a struggle with Shirley Bloomer, Britain's No. 1 woman player, but prevailed 6-3, 6-8, 6-2.

MacKay went down before Mervyn Rose, lefthanded Australian, in a quarter-final match 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

Long Delay

Rose, a left-hander famed as a doubles player, completely dominated the match.

An upset was scored in the women's division by Ann Haydon, a British left-hander, who eliminated the fourth-seeded Maria Bueno of Brazil, 6-3, 7-5. Miss Bueno had been rated the most formidable threat to Althea Gibson's championship.

For the second consecutive year, the tournament goes into the men's semi-finals with the entire U. S. delegation on the sidelines.

And for the first time since the end of World War II, the United States failed to place at least two entries in the penultimate round of the women's division.

3 Australians

In the men's division, there remain three Australians (Ashley Cooper, Neale Fraser and Rose) and one Dane (Kurt Nielsen). Besides Miss Gibson in the women's division, there are two Britons (Ann Haydon and Angela Mortimer) and one Hungarian (Mrs. Kormoczy).

MacKay took his reversal in good grace, and refused to use his blistered racket hand as an alibi.

Mrs. Margaret Du Pont of Wilmington, Del., who won the title back in 1947, and pint-sized Mimi Arnold, both were knocked out in the quarter-finals.

Mrs. Du Pont bowed to Miss Mortimer, 4-6, 6-3, 10-8.

Miss Arnold, the giant killer who licked Britain's second-seeded Christine Truman earlier, was a 6-1, 5-7, 8-6 victim of Mrs. Kormoczy, a slick player of 34.

Either way, nobody but the champs has been that far ahead, and the Braves made it for only the second time on a shutout by Lew Burdette and a home run by Eddie Mathews that beat Cincinnati, 1-0, Tuesday night. That gave Milwaukee a 4-game streak since ending a 9-game Dodger jinx with two victories last weekend.

It has been rough going for Burdette this season, but he finally found the formula that made him the toast of the 1957 world series.

First Shutout

The fidgety right-hander who twice blanked the Yankees in the series came up with his first shutout of the season.

Mathews slammed a line drive over the right field fence off Harvey Haddix in the fourth inning for the only run of the game and his sixteenth round tripper of the season.

Mathews' blast was one of only five hits made by the Braves off Haddix, Hal Jeffcoat and Willard Schmidt. The Redlegs got eight off Burdette, who issued one walk and fanned two. The Braves got six walks—four off Haddix.

Burdette had to sweat out a rough ninth inning. Shortstop

Williams, Jensen Spark Bosox Win

Yanks Split Twin Bill With Orioles; Chisox Triumph in 11

By the Associated Press

It's been Mantle and Berra for the New York Yankees; Kalline and Kuenn for Detroit. But Boston has the Boom-Boom boys of the moment, with Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen, crashing nine homers and driving in 20 runs between them in the Red Sox' last five games.

The "Big Guy" and Jensen, who is closing in on his best slugging season in the majors after taking the American league home run lead with 14 in June, each smacked 2-run shots that powered the Red Sox to a 10-5 victory over Washington Tuesday night.

It was Jensen's twenty-fourth of the year, two shy of his 1955 high of 26, and fifth in four games for a total of 11 RBI. Williams, the most enduring 39-year-old since Jack Benny went square and turned 40, hammered his twelfth home run, added two singles and picked up a third RBI as the Red Sox won their third in a row.

tory at Detroit. Chicago defeated Cleveland, 5-4, in 11 innings after the Indians had chased White Sox ace Billy Pierce.

Williams, the defending AL bat champ, busted past 300 for the first time this season, hitting .308, while walloping his 400-foot homer in a 3-run third inning against loser Hal Griggs (3-5). Jensen smacked his in a 3-run sixth off Chuck Stobbs for his 1,100th hit in nine major league seasons.

Reformed reliever Ike DeLoach won his tenth in a row, sixth of the year, with an 8-hitter, one Norm Zaichin's eighth homer.

Bob boy Billy Loes, who had lost seven straight, won his first in relief when Baltimore overhauled a Yankee lead with five in the fifth. Billy Gardner's 3-run triple capped it against losing reliever Duke Maas (4-7). Don Larsen (7-1) homered for a 1-1 tie, then won the nightcap on Mickey Mantle's 16th home run, second of the night, in the eighth inning off Jack Harshman, 6-7.

Wooding, 5-for-8 in the pair, homered for the Birds.

Cerv Homers
Bob Cerv's twenty-first home run got the A's started and they clinched Ned Garver's eighth victory, first in a month, in the sixth on 2-run singles by Hector Lopez and Harry Chitt. Frank Larry lost his fifth hit, three by Ozzie Virgil, and lost his shutout in the eighth on Bob Hazle's first AL home run.

Sherman Lollar, whose 3-run homer gave Chicago a 4-0 lead in the sixth, singled home the winner off losing reliever "Mudcat" Grant (6-5). Pierce, who had a near-perfect game Friday, stretched his shutout string to 33 innings—longest in the majors this year—before the Tribe scored an unearned run in the seventh. Larry Doby, late of the Sox, tied it with a pinch-hit, 3-run homer in the eighth off Jerry Staley. Early Wynn (8-6) won it.

Pick Giambra 'Fighter of the Month'

Giardello Drops To No. 3 Ranking After Defeat

New York — Joey Giambra's upset victory over Jerry Giardello earned the San Francisco middleweight magazine's "Fighter of the Month" for June.

The defeat dropped Giardello down to No. 3 ranking among Ray Robinson's contenders with Gene Fullmer, the former champ from West Jordan, Utah, moving into the No. 2 position behind Carmen Basilio, another former champ.

Roy Harris the heavyweight from Cut and Shoot, Tex., who will meet champion Floyd Patterson for the world heavyweight title in Los Angeles in August, was listed No. 5 among the champ's challengers. He was placed behind Eddie Machen, Zora Folley, Willie Pasternak and Archie Moore, the light heavy king.

Virgil Alkens took charge of the welterweight division during the month with his rout of Vince Martinez in St. Louis. Isaac Logart, stopped by Akims in late winter, was listed as the leading contender.

on each other for the preservation of their lives. For this reason they look upon others as a possible source of assistance. Common sense, if nothing else, will indicate the need for good manners.

Here are a few tips:
1. Always keep your speed as slow as possible when in a crowded anchorage or docking area. Remember that you are legally liable for damage caused by your wake.
2. Power boatmen should give a wide berth to sailing craft. When you come upon a sailing race, pass to leeward at a good distance, slowly enough not to create a disturbing wake.

Follow Road Rules
3. Follow the rules of the road at all times. When another boat approaches you in your danger angle, slow down or change your course to let him pass.

Your danger angle is measured from dead ahead to two points abaft the starboard beam. Another way of stating this is to say that the danger angle is measured clockwise from the bow of your boat 10 compass points, or 112.5 degrees, on the right-hand or starboard side of your boat. This is two points or 22.5 degrees past the 90-degree beam point. If you want help in visualizing this, ask a member of your local power squadron or coast guard auxiliary.

4. When overtaking another boat, remember that he has the right of way. Swing wide when passing, to avoid giving him a rough time with your wake.
5. Use the correct horn signals whenever there is danger of collision. One blast means you are directing your course to the starboard or right. Two blasts mean you are going to port or left.

6. Never shunt your searchlight on another boat, it may blind the pilot and cause a wreck.
7. When others are trying to sleep in a crowded harbor, be reasonably quiet.

Questions and Answers
(1) Sometimes when I try to dock, all the space is taken. Is it all right to tie up to another boat and walk across it to the dock? I've seen a lot of others do this.
Only if invited to do so, or if you request permission to be alongside and it is granted.
(2) On week-end mornings there are so many boats around the gas dock that you have to wait in line. Why don't they have more docks and pumps so the public can be served properly? You can make it easy for yourself and help relieve the situation by gasing up when you return to the harbor. With full tanks, you are always ready to go out without stopping. This also cuts down on condensation in the tanks.

Nautical Jive
GIVE A WIDE BERTH — To steer clear of another boat, leaving plenty of distance.
WAKE — The disturbance in the water left by the passage of a boat.
POINTS — The divisions of a compass. There are 32 points, or 360 degrees in the complete circle. Some compasses are marked in both points and degrees. A point is 11.25 degrees.

Phil's Bouchee Reinstated, Joins Club

First Baseman To Start Against Braves Thursday

Pittsburgh — Phil Bouchee, Philadelphia Phillies first baseman who was restored to baseball by Commissioner Ford Frick, joins his teammates here today.

He will start against the Braves in Milwaukee Thursday. The 4-game Milwaukee series may prove the testing ground for Bouchee's comeback in the game he says will provide the best therapy of all.

"This was a medical case," Phil Manager Mayo Smith said. "Bouchee is evidently cured and we are happy to have him back. I'll start him at first base Thursday at Milwaukee. He has been working out regularly in Philadelphia and probably will give our club a lift."

Another Chance
Under indefinite suspension since he pleaded guilty to a morals charge in Spokane, Wash., Feb. 20, the 25-year-old Bouchee was given another chance when Frick, at a news conference in New York, announced the reinstatement.

"It was the only decision I could live with," Frick said. "I have made an exhaustive study of all the evidence, and I am convinced that Bouchee is completely cured. All the doctors and the probation officers who have been assigned to this case have recommended his return to baseball. I am assuming sole and complete responsibility."

A little over three months after the offense, Bouchee was placed on three years probation by a judge in Spokane. A psychiatrist testified that he suffered from compulsive exhibitionism, an aberration resulting from emotional illness. His offense was innocent exposure involving two young girls.

Bouchee has been working out, at Connie Mack stadium in Philadelphia, since June 4 after undergoing psychiatric treatment for three months at the Institute for Living in Hartford, Conn.

Denny Moyer Cops Split Decision From Al Andrews

Portland, Ore. — The veteran Al Andrews of Superior, Wis., last a 10-round decision to Denny Moyer, flashy Portland middleweight Tuesday night. Moyer weighed 153, Andrews 160.

Moyer, winning 13 straight bouts since turning professional, kept Andrews off balance with a spectacular jab. Moyer enjoyed a narrow margin in the first three rounds, but took a substantial margin with a hard body attack in the fourth and fifth. Andrews won the sixth with stiff body punches but young Moyer came back to win the next three rounds and a unanimous decision.

Big Falls Leads Central Division

The Skipper of This Cruiser follows the courtesy of the water by keeping his speed slow while maneuvering in the harbor. In this way he doesn't cause any damage or discomfort from his wash.

You're the Skipper

Courtesy on Water Is Sign of Good Boatman

BY JOHN BOHANNAN

A welcome surprise for the newcomer to boating is the courtesy prevalent among owners of pleasure craft. The man at the wheel seems to have far better manners than his counterpart in an automobile.

Perhaps this is because one usually can walk away from a car if the motor refuses to run. On a boat, engine failure can be far more serious. A towline, tossed to you by a friendly skipper when you are in trouble, assumes vital significance.

Boatmen Dependent
Storms, too, have a stern meaning to the boatman, while the motorist merely pulls over to the side of the street and parks until visibility gets better.

Boatmen are more dependent.

Philadelphia infielder Ed Bouchee, suspended from baseball since he pleaded guilty to a morals charge Feb. 20, shoulders his bat and carries his bag from the Phillies dressing room in Philadelphia Wednesday night as he leaves to rejoin the team. Bouchee will probably start against Milwaukee Thursday night. (AP Wirephoto)

State Outdoor License Report Shows Resident Drop in Sales

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — More non-residents are being lured into the state for fishing and hunting but Wisconsin outdoor sports attractions may be losing their appeal for some Wisconsin residents.

That is the hint contained in the final report on 1957 fishing and hunting permit sales by the state conservation department. As in most other recent years, the state sold more non-resident hunting and fishing permits — and especially the latter.

Resident Sales Drop
But for the first time in a long time, resident sales of fishing and hunting permits dropped slightly with the single exception of deer hunting licenses. The latter sales figure may have been accounted for by the fact that the state ordered a comparatively liberal deer hunt last fall.

All sports licenses except the resident fishing license were higher priced last year, by action of the state legislature. The higher resident fishing license fee took effect for 1958.

Of special interest to deer hunters was the revelation that there were 32,027 deer party permits issued for the 1957 deer season, the first season that the "camp meat" provision was in use.

Small Game Drop
The state disposed of 729,404 resident fishing licenses in the year, against 756,170 in 1956 and 741,111 in 1955.

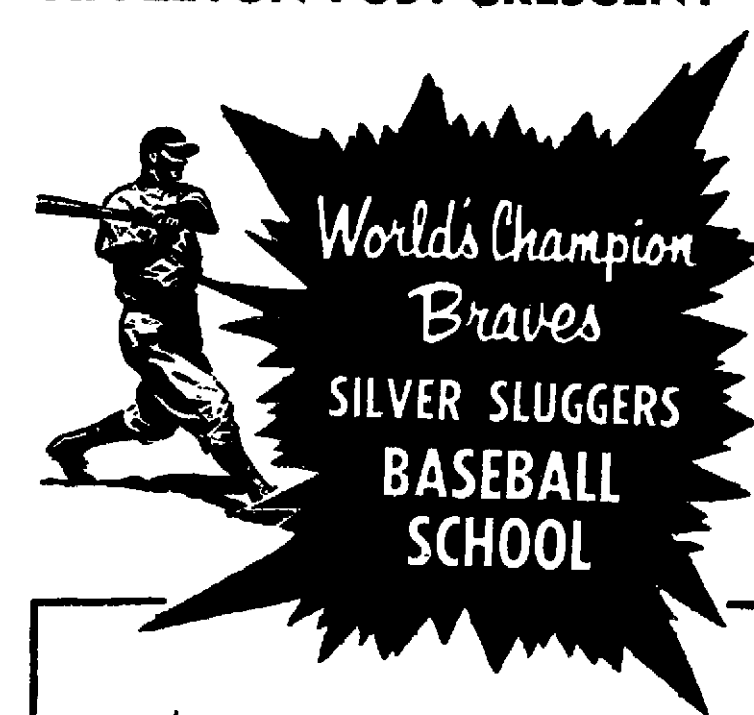

Small game hunting licenses to residents amounted to 382,452, a substantial drop from the 413,582 figure of 1956. Deer hunting licenses sold numbered 286,792, the highest for any recent year.

Non-resident fishing license sales, regarded as one of the most reliable indicators of tourist traffic, again rose slightly to 247,046. The previous year's total was 245,010 and the state sold 236,080 permits for visitors in 1955.

The number of voluntary sportsmen's licenses, sold at a relatively higher fee to persons who wish to support all of the department's revenue programs, has been rising slowly and now stands at nearly 52,000.

Only Two U. S. Golfers Qualify For British Open

Gene Sarazen Lone American Pro In Tourney Field

St. Anne's-On-Sea, England —American influence in the British open golf championship today is at its lowest point in 40 years.

Some three or four decades back, Americans were the big winners in the hallowed tournament once considered the last word in international golf competition.

There was Bobby Jones, for example, who won the championship in 1926—when the first four finishers were American—1927 and 1930.

Talking of Hogan
And they're still talking at St. Anne's of Walter Hogan, the flamboyant winner in 1922, 1924, 1928 and 1929.

The last U.S. winner was Ben Hogan, who brought tremendous control to bear to win a nip and tuck battle in 1953.

Then there is Gene Sarazen, the 1932 winner and the only American professional left in the 1958 tournament.

Carrying the flag with Sarazen, as the tournament proper got underway today after two days of qualifying rounds is a young Hillsboro, Texas, golfer on leave from army duty in Germany.

Racks Up 148
He is Montie Bradley, who racked up an aggregate 148 that hit the qualifying score on the nose.

Sarazen, 56-year-old golfer from Germantown, N. Y., shot 33-35—68 Tuesday at Lytham for a 36-hole aggregate of 141, which easily qualified him for the tournament proper.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo had a disastrous second round of 81 at Fairhaven and failed to qualify with a 149 total.

but Burdette made George Crowe tap to Logan for a forceout that ended the inning without a Redleg tally.

Haddix was plenty tough right from the outset. The Braves did not get a hit off him until Mathews clouted his homer. The tribe loaded up the bases in the fifth on singles by Del Crandall and Burdette and a walk to Mathews but Haddix called on all his cunning to dispose of red hot Henry Aaron on a feeble popout.

There was trouble ahead for Haddix. Again the Braves jammed the sacks on a single by Pafko, a walk to Logan and an intentional pass to Crandall. At this point, Manager Birdie Tebbets called in right-hander Jeffcoat who needed only one pitch to retire Burdette on a roller down the first base line to end the threat.

In tonight's final of the 3-game series with the Redlegs, the Braves will send Joey Jay to the mound against Brooks Lawrence.

Foxes Record Initial Win Of 2nd Round singles in four tries and the next hitter, Nate Arnold, bats left.

"What if I walk the next one, too?" the surprised and unpredictable Camerson asked his manager. Suder allayed his apprehensions, walked off the mound and watched Arnold "cooperate" fully. Arnold lifted a harmless pop fly to Don Dantoni that made everyone look good.

Dean Mink, second Bluejay reliever, got Bob Van Dyke to open the home ninth. But, the moment after the first portside slant to Pascual left his hand, he knew that both the ball and his perfect record (3-0) were gone.

The Foxes gave pitcher Ron Bloodworth, a belated wedding present in the form of a 6-run first inning. But he was unable to keep the Bluejays from pecking away, and by the time he left for the shower-room in the eighth, only one run of that lead remained.

Loads The Bases
Lefty Unzicker walked Payne to load the bases. While Billy Bone was forcing Payne at second, a run scored. Dantoni then whistled a 3-run blast over the left center field fence.

Green Bay came alive in the third as Earl Robinson drove in a tally with a single. In the fourth, Walker beat out an infield hit, and the homer-minded Howard exploded a long drive over the left field barricade — his third 4-bagger in as many second-round games and his twenty-second of the season.

Bloodworth cut down Howard on strikes on three other occasions.

The Foxes picked up two in the sixth to move to a seemingly secure 8-3 advantage. Payne doubled just inside the left field line. Bob Parker's bobble put Bone on first. A wild pitch enabled Payne to score from third and Bone to second. Bone advanced on Dantoni's sacrifice and scored on Bloodworth's sacrifice fly to deep center.

Green Bay made it an 8-6 game with a trio in the seventh on doubles by Smith and Walker, a single by pinch batter Ric Warren and a walk to Arnold.

Two errors and a single by Smith brought the Jays to within one run of a tie in the eighth. Furlow, the Foxes' stringbean new comer, took over and preserved the team's 1-run margin until the eventful ninth.

Meet Your Foxes

Marr Near Big League Caliber as Receiver

BY MIKE DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fox Cities Foxes catcher John Marr, who qualifies as a pretty good authority on the subject, says the main difference between Class AA and Class B baseball is the pitchers' control.

A second major dissimilarity is the quality of defensive play, says Marr, who came to the Foxes about a week ago from Chattanooga.

Twenty-Third of Series
Chattanooga, of the Southern association. Chattanooga is Washington's highest classification farm club (AA).

The 22-year-old Marr has made an auspicious debut here. Through Monday evening's game, his fifth with the Foxes, he was batting an even .400 with eight hits in 20 at bats. He had whacked two homers and a double and batted in six runs in the five games.

Excellent Arm
His batting is the only facet of Marr's ability about which there has been any question. He's rated as near major league caliber as a receiver and has an excellent arm.

The 6-0, 180-pound Marr played in 51 games for Chattanooga last season, hitting just .185. He then went to the Senators' Class B club at Midland, Texas, where he hit .252 in 41 contests.

Marr entered military service last November and was discharged May 29 after six months of service. He played in just one game at Chattanooga (in right field) before reporting here.

Marr, a Baltimore, Md., native, is married. Always a catcher, Jim signed his first pro contract in the winter of 1953, after he graduated from high school.

In 1954 he hit .271 for Fulton (Ky.) in the Class D Kitty league. He moved up to Hagerstown (Md.) in the Class B Piedmont league the next season and had his best year, batting in the vicinity of .325, with 27 doubles.

Jim caught for Washington's Class A Charlotte club in the Sally league in 1956, hitting around .200.

Marr, who says "I've never been in the north before," says he's "tickled" to be with the Foxes because he'll have a chance to play more regularly here.

Lincoln, Erb, Columbus Win

In the Junior division of the Appletton Recreation department's Playground basketball league, Lincoln, Erb, and Columbus all won opening-round games.

Lincoln trounced Linwood, 67-22, as John Wendt paced the Lincoln attack. Erb beat Pierce, 43-40. Mike Lee led the winners with 18 points. In the other game Columbus beat Edison, 54-20.

Miller's sand Hamann's teams lead the Senior High division with identical records of 2-0.

Palmer and Bolt Head Field in Rubber City Open Golf Tournament

Akron, Ohio —(P)—Masters champion Arnold Palmer and Tommy Bolt, U. S. Open king, lead the list of top golfers shooting for the big prize in the $22,000 Rubber City open starting Thursday.

Both are former tournament winners here. Palmer won it last year, defeating Doug Ford on the sixth hole of a sudden death playoff. Both had finished the regulation four rounds at 272.

The Firestone Country club plays to a par of 35-36-71 over 6,645 yards.

Four Badger Gridders Make Up Deficiencies; Tom Peters Is Dropped

Madison —(P)—Four University of Wisconsin football players are hitting the books this summer to make up scholastic deficiencies picked up during the spring semester. But, another player—reserve end Tom Peters of Joliet, Ill., has been dropped from school.

Those seemingly well on their way to regaining full eligibility through summer school work are lettermen Bob Altman, Milwaukee; Jim Fraser, Philadelphia; Edward Hart, Kenosha and Ron Steiner, Iron Mountain, Mich. Grade reports indicate all four are doing satisfactory work.

Health Board Sets Meeting on Rabies Control Program

A rabies control program for Appletton will be discussed Aug. 5 by the city's board of health and three veterinarians, the board decided Tuesday.

Drs. H. R. Trombley and K. M. Giese, who suggested a control program in a letter to the city council, and Dr. D. L. Jones, the city's meat inspector, were asked to attend.

The board again denied Russell Mapes' request for a permit to keep pigeons at 1713 N. Erb street. Seventeen neighbors signed a petition declaring they had no opposition, but three neighbors appeared before the board to protest.

Deputy City Health Officer Claude N. Greisch said he has received a number of complaints about people keeping animals and fowl in the city in violation of the ordinance.

A booklet on city - county health departments was ordered circulated to aldermen.

2-Fold Benefit May be Realized From New Patent

Waupaca —A development recently patented by a Waupaca man and assigned to the Kimberly - Clark corporation is aimed at helping the ceramics industry and adding another outlet for waste sulphite liquor from the paper industry.

Archibald R. Gmeiner received a patent for the process of adding a small amount of the waste liquor in concentrate to clays used in ceramics to improve the strength of the finished product.

Serious losses are incurred in the manufacture of structural clay products, such as bricks, tiles and pipes, because of cracking and chipping during making and handling. These losses make it difficult to produce structural clay products on a competitive basis with similar articles produced from other materials.

Gmeiner's process overcomes this limitation with an organic binder in the materials of which the clay products are made.

Sulphite liquor, because it is easily obtained in large quantities and is inexpensive, proved to be the best binder material.

High Bridge Right-of-Way Costs $90,535

Withhold Specific Awards Pending End
Of Negotiations

Right-of-way for the Collegeto-Candee high level bridge will cost $90,535, the board of public works decided Tuesday.

Ten property owners are involved. The amount of the award to each will not be announced until negotiations are complete.

Board members in each case selected the highest of three appraisals made for the city by Joseph Doertler, Norman Hall and George Peotter, Appleton appraisers.

The decisions will be forwarded to the state highway commission for approval. Then representatives of the board and commission will call on each property owner.

Auction Possibility Buildings involved may be sold at public auction or removed as part of the bridge construction contract.

Other board actions:
J. R. Whitman's suggestion that S. Alton court be kept open, without safety islands for turning movements, at the E. College approach to the new bridge was held for study.

Whitman said the street could be excluded from the approach after the bridge is open if traffic hazards are shown to exist.

District Highway Engineer L.
W. Empey expressed misgivings, but said the decision probably would be made after the bridge contract is let, probably in September. Bids will be taken on existing plans and provide for the possibility of change orders, he said.

Want Turnaround
Ald. Douglas Ogilvie told the board people in his ward who live near the E. College bridge approach definitely will want a turnaround constructed at the present E. College and S. Alton intersection if S. Alton is excluded.

Empey said he feels leaving
S. Alton open as the last street before the bridge will create much traffic on S. Alton.

The street department was ordered to raze two houses at the northeast corner of S. Alton street and E. Kimball street. The land and buildings were purchased from Louis Lohman and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bates last year for $21,000. The land will become a parking lot.

Re-laying the E. Taft avenue sewer from S. Oneida street east about 400 feet, a controversial project for several months, was ordered. The city will pay for the work, including installation of laterals to the sidewalk line.

Vets Houses
City Atty. Don L. Jury was instructed to notify owners of four former veterans housing units on city property near W.
Spencer street to remove them within 10 days from receipt of his letter. If they don't comply, they will be charged $25 a month rental for the space.
Deadline for removal of the houses, sold at auction last year, was September.

Employers Mutual of Wausau was awarded the contract for insurance on city vehicles.
Its bid of $1,946.28 was low.

Paving work ordered so far this year will cost $123,331, with $61,256 of it returnable in special assessment to abutting property owners, Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski reported.

This makes the cost to the city $62,075. There is $75,000 in the budget for paving work, with widening of N. Lave street at E. Wisconsin avenue, the city's share of N. Richmond street reconstruction work, paving the alley south of W. College avenue and west of S. Superior street, the north-end of N. Oneida street and some other asphalt work still to be done.

153 Bridge Units
Drawn by Center During June

A total of 153 units of blood
Blood center during June, an increase of 55 over the same period a year ago. Seventy-four units were replaced, compared with 29 a year ago. Forty new family plan members were registered, compared with 66 in June, 1957.

The center's monthly report also indicated 17 family plan members received 41 units of blood during the month.

A comparison of the first six months of this year and last year shows 784 units were used this year, an increase of 188 over the 596 units used in 1957.

The Little Women's circle of long's Daughters has donated $25 for the center to be used for a new record file.
